"SHOULD THE ARMY-McCARTHY HEARINGS BE CONTINUED?"

Arthur Cloffit, 510 Watertown Street, Newtonville, Landscape Gardener. "In my opinion I think they should continue. I think they're doing a lot of good. Personally, I think McCarthy is right and is showing up the Army for what it really is. The hearings are showing a lot of the favoritism which is practiced in the Army. Yes, I certainly do think they should continue."

Mrs. Jessie Covington, 34 Curve street, West Newton, Housewife. "Well, I really don't know. Sometimes I think it's foolish for them to continue because I don't think they're accomplishing anything and yet much of the time I find them very interesting. I don't follow every word of the televised programs but I do watch and I also read about them in the paper."

Albert Arcese, 64 Hawthorn street, Newton, Northeastern Student. "No, it's all just a who shined Shine's rifle affair. That is the main issue and is much too small and unimportant to merit all the attention that it's receiving on radio and television. I don't have a chance to see too much of the hearings on television during the day but I do read about them in the papers. The whole issue is too small."

Mrs. John Carney, 74 London street, Lowell, Mass., Newton

INFORMATION DESK IS NOW IN OPERATION AT THE CITY HALL

Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., has announced that the new information desk in Newton City Hall rotunda started operating as a service Monday. This new public relations service is set up primarily to answer inquiries or to direct citizens to departments or individuals who can assist them.

Department heads have compiled answers to the more common inquiries concerning their activities. These questions and answers have been arranged alphabetically and cross-indexed and contain information on varied subjects. It is anticipated that many ordinary and even some extraordinary questions will be asked at the Information Desk—for example:

CHAMBER ASKS SUPPORT BY ITS MEMBERS FOR CHANNEL 2 FUNDS

The Newton Chamber of Commerce has appealed to each of its 600 members representing businesses in Newton to contribute financial support toward the operation of Channel 2, which next fall will bring non-commercial educational television to this area, Murray E. Sholkin of Waban, co-chairman of the local drive has announced.

The appeal to business men, signed by John B. Rubenstein, president of the Newton Chamber of Commerce, stated that the request was unanimously approved by the Board because "establishing Channel 2 is of great personal significance to you and your family. Channel

POLITICAL OVERTONES

McDonough Gains Ground in Gubernatorial Battle...
Tight Race Now Seen for Democratic Endorsement...

In the short period of time that he has been campaigning for the Democratic nomination for Governor, Executive Councillor Patrick J. McDonough of Dorchester has made tremendous headway.

It now seems apparent that McDonough and Minority Leader Robert F. Murphy of Malden are waging a close, tight race for the endorsement of the Democratic State convention which opens in Worcester four weeks from this Friday night.

Ex-Governor James M. Curley will challenge them at the Worcester conclave, but it is improbable that he can win at the convention. Mr. Curley, who has decided to run for the Governorship rather than the Senate, probably will make his big bid in the September primary.

Former Undersecretary of Labor Michael J. Galvin, Middlesex County Sheriff Howard Fitzpatrick and State Bank Commissioner Timothy J. Donovan are all making passes at the gubernatorial endorsement, but of the three only Galvin is an announced candidate.

visitor. "No, I don't think the Army-McCarthy hearings should continue for a number of reasons. The main reason is that they aren't accomplishing anything and aren't going to do one bit of good. In fact, I don't think any decision will be reached as to just who is right and who is wrong when the hearings are finally over."

Charles F. Stew, 142 Craft Street, Newton, Realtor. "No, I think they're just a waste of time. The point that they are arguing is too small and doesn't deserve all the attention it's getting. I think the whole hearings are just a cover-up for something bigger. I haven't followed it close enough to say just who is right but I do think that any reasonable person knows there is a great deal of favoritism shown in the Army. To me the hearings are just a tempest in a tea pot."

Miss Isobel Carney, 74 London Street, Lowell, Mass., Newton Visitor. "I'm afraid I have to agree with the negative side. I don't think they should continue. I say that not only because of the usual reasons about not doing any good but also because I think the American people are soon going to tire of them if they haven't already. I'm amazed at all the attention that such a minor issue is receiving."

Recommend Balance to Lower Rate

A $250,000 surplus fund is sufficient to retain in the city treasury, all sums above that amount should be used annually to effect lower tax rate, according to the Newton Taxpayers' Association in its release issued this week.

At their Monday meeting, the aldermen appropriated $600,000 from the city's available surplus of $1,200,000 to apply to the tax rate.

Although this fell short of the Taxpayers' Association recommendations, Mr. Muther said he was satisfied with the move since capital improvements, which will probably be taken from the surplus, should eat up most of the remaining surplus.

In upholding this contention, the Taxpayers' Association states that "the tax rate should really reflect the level of costs incurred in operating the city for the calendar-fiscal year, and that only the amount likely to be needed in a quick emergency should be retained as free surplus, that the remainder should be returned to the citizens who provide the cash in the first place."

The surplus, or free-cash account, has long been a bone of contention so far as the amount to be transferred to be applied against costs is concerned and the Taxpayers' in its release this month has stated plainly and in no uncertain language its stand on this matter.

The release says that "one of the factors in determining the rate at which you pay your city tax is how much the aldermen vote from 'available funds'

Reasserts a Need for Strong Bd.

Last Monday night, the same evening that saw the Board of Aldermen turn down the proposal of the Taxpayers' Association to strengthen the Planning Board, also saw the Planning Board in an act revealing the weakness of its present state," commented Lorenz F. Muther, Jr., Association Executive.

Citing the petition for a retail furniture store on the south side of the Worcester Turnpike in the tract just west of the Hammond Pond Parkway, Muther reported that the Planning Board, after suggesting a survey of the tract, then voted not to vote on the petition itself and left the problem up to the Aldermen. "In short," Muther said, "the Planning Board reneged.

"While this action is not at all typical," Muther continued, "it does seem to be significant, and points up sharply the need to make the Planning Board a stronger governmental tool. The Newton Taxpayers' Association will continue to work toward that end," he averred.

Controversial Business Block Approved by Bd. of Aldermen

Oak Hill Park's hotly-debated business block, an on-and-off proposition ever since the veterans housing development was constructed after World War II, received the green light Monday night from the Newton Board of Aldermen.

In two separate votes, the alderman by a 13-5 count reversed an unfavorable claims and rules committee report and then granted permission for the Saw Mill Brook parkway project — consisting of a gas station and seven stores — with only president Wendell R. Bauckman opposing. Previously the business block was approved 5-2 by the franchises and licensees committee.

Although the Oak Hill Park block has been the center of controversy for years, no debate took place on the floor of the aldermanic chambers. The vote came after discussion of the permit behind closed doors of an executive session.

Two months ago the business block was scheduled to be rejected out of a committee, but was withdrawn for study at the last minute. At a public hearing on the proposed block, Oak Hill residents appeared both in favor and opposed. The Oak Hill Park Association split over the issue, and no official stand was taken.

Approval by the aldermen marked the third time that construction has been authorized. The original plans for the housing development called for a block on Saw Mill Brook parkway on land left vacant, but the contractor went into bankruptcy before the project could be completed.

Last year the board granted a permit for the block to V. Ciulla and Sons, who received the permit Monday. However, a 6-month time limit expired before the company erected the stores.

A second Oak Hill business development was voted down 18-1, rejecting a petition by Clement Esty to change land on Dedham street, including the Esty Farm, from a residential to a business zone.

The lone vote against rejecting the Esty petition was by Alderman Leo M. Cannon. The Ward 1 alderman told the board he was opposed to turning this down since he felt "a happy solution" to the Oak Hill business problem could be found by combining the Esty and Ciulla petitions, and putting the Rep. George E. Rawson's bill to "end confusion" over stocks which are legal investments for savings banks was passed Friday by the State House of Representatives.

The bill would compel the bank commissioner to publish annually, not later than July 1, a list of securities approved as investments for the savings banks.

"From time to time," said Rep. Rawson, "the commissioner has published a list of the bonds and the bank stocks which the banks may buy. A few years ago, the General Court passed an act permitting savings banks to invest in stocks of the 10 strongest capital stock fire insurance companies.

The shifting of a lot of land on the south side of Boylston street, west of Hammond Pond parkway, Chestnut Hill, from private residence to a business zone, was approved with a single restriction. To protect nearby houses, trees and shrubs will have to be planted as a screen along the back of a furniture store which will be constructed on the property.

About 150 people were present at a hearing last week on the Esty petition, with 10 householders showing hands in favor of the change requested and 49 opposed. Russell S. Broad, president of the Oak Hill District Improvement Association, testified at the hearing that his group had voted against the Esty petition at its annual meeting last week.

Greenhouse Refused

Another Oak Hill business petition turned down was filed by Lydia Glashow for a permit to erect a greenhouse at her home, 790 Boylston street, on the edge of the Oak Hill district.

Aldermen Cannon and William R. Mattson argued that the greenhouse should be allowed since it would block possible attempts to build a gas station on an adjacent lot. Mr. Cannon pointed out that virtually "the whole neighborhood was up in arms" when a service station was proposed in that area last year, but the only opposition to the greenhouse at a public hearing was by a representative of the Oak Hill District Improvement Association.

Opposing the petition, President Bauckman declared "Encroachment of business upon this stretch of the turnpike throws open the entire turnpike to business." Alderman V. Stoddard Bigelow agreed it would be the first step to allowing business along that portion of Boyston street (the Worcester turnpike).

Confusion ran rampant during a hearing on the acceptance of West Pine street, Auburndale. Residents living at opposite ends of the street were unexpectedly pitted against each other through misunderstanding which saw the entire street up for consideration instead of just half.

When it was finally decided which residents wanted what, problem of juvenile delinquency. Some may be concerned more with prevention, others with correction. Few will deny that the school has a major role to play in preventing juvenile delinquency."

President Thomas W. Leydon of the Newton Lions' Club says that 250 Newton organizations have been cordially invited to this panel discussion and that parents and workers with children particularly will find it very valuable and are invited to attend.

Dr. Edward Landy, Division of Counseling Services, Newton public schools, one of the six experts on the panel states, "No one agency or institution concerned with children and youth can or should stand off and point the finger at others as being responsible for the severe problems."

Regarding presumptive prevention, however, Dr. Evans says, "From analysis of mental disturbances, certain unwholesome experiences are found which appear important in the production of the disturbances. Prevention involves avoiding these unwholesome experiences which are presumed to be important."

In past years the legal authority to determine this amount rested with the Assessors, but now the Assessors, Comptroller or Mayor can merely recommend. The duty of deciding now is the Aldermen's."

Continuing the report states that "since 1951 the Taxpayers' Association" has steadily maintained that a surplus of $250,000 is sufficient in a given year. We reiterate that position this year. If we put labels on various arbitrary amounts of "surplus" held from the taxpayers at tax rate time we would say: $250,000 is sufficient; $500,000 is most ample; $750,000 is excessive; and $1,000,000 is outrageous." The report notes that each $250,000 is equivalent to more than $1 on the tax rate.

The Association believes that "legally and also as a matter of good city policy the tax rate should really reflect the level of costs incurred in operating the city for the calendar-fiscal year, that only the amount likely to be needed in a quick emergency should be retained, and that the remainder should be returned to the citizens who provide the cash in the first place."

"We are even less impressed," the statement continues, "with the argument that a tight surplus makes for a fluctuating tax rate, thereby contributing to the uncertainty of the annual amounts to be paid either directly to the city or by way of varying payments where banks are collecting on mortgages. We think it better that the citizens be helped to be aware each year, by direct result, of how their city is doing financially.

"We are even less impressed with the argument that by holding a large surplus the tax rate can be kept artificially high for the purpose of discouraging rapid growth in new population. We think the argument not only fails to work out in practice, and not only violates the intent of the law, but also creates an air of "phoniness" manipulation around public affairs which certainly should not be encouraged.

"We do know a big surplus provides big temptation to spend for more than what is actually necessary.

"Therefore, we recommend again in 1954 that the Aldermen vote, to benefit the tax rate, all "free" surplus over and above what is necessary for quick emergency, i.e., to retain $250,000 this year."

Harry V. Anderson Named Director

Harry V. Anderson, principal of the Claflin School, will be the new director of the Church Vacation School when it opens on the Andover-Newton campus Monday, July 5, to continue through July 30. With experience in Newton schools, Mr. Anderson is well qualified to supervise the staff of teachers who will conduct the classes and organize the play periods.

When the Church Vacation School was founded approximately twenty-five years ago by the education committees of the Baptist and Congregational Churches in Newton Centre, its aim was to serve all children of the community regardless of their church affiliations. That aim is the same today. The Episcopal and Methodist churches of Newton Centre, as well as the Newton Highlands Congregational Church, have added their sponsorship of the program. During the twenty-five years, the school has served city of Newton residents for a month each summer. Over one hundred children every year have availed themselves of the Newton Council of Churches. It has been financed largely since 1950 by the tuition fees, with any additional needs being met by the Council. Until five years ago the school was directed by successive students from Andover-Newton Theological Seminary. In 1949, in order to preserve the continuity of purpose and program, the directorship was given to Robert M. Mitchell, guidance director in the Newton High School and president of the Newton Council of Churches. Mr. Anderson has been appointed to succeed him.

The school will be open five mornings a week from 9 to 12. Parents, or their representatives, are responsible for the children until 9 o'clock and immediately after noon. The classes will comprise the following age groups: the nursery, age 4 to 5½; primary, 6 and 7; and a class for 8 and 9 years olds.

The fee for a single child is $3 per week; for two children in a family, $5; and for three children in a family, $7. This sum includes a mid-morning snack. A $3 registration fee is mailed to Harry V. Anderson, Claflin School, Lowell Avenue, Newtonville, will be credited for the first week. Ministers of Newton Churches will soon re-

Mother's Day, 1954

In a constantly changing and often frightening world, a few things remain unchanging and imperishable. And one of the greatest of these is a mother's love.

Among the Massachusetts mothers whose love and self-sacrifice remain forever with us, no group is more devoted nor more heavily laden than the mothers of our handicapped, including 6300 cerebral palsied children. These youngsters are born with damaged brains. Many are unusually bright, but without special treatment they may never talk, walk, or even feed or dress themselves.

This burden on a mother's love is beyond description, like the demands on her time and energy. If any mother deserves special tribute on Mother's Day and they do—these noble women are especially deserving.

The United Cerebral Palsy Association of Massachusetts, formed largely by mothers who demanded that as much be done for their children as is done for non-handicapped youngsters, is an expression of this devotion and unselfishness. UCP centers are rescuing these children from lives in shadow, helping them toward useful living.

This month, UCP must raise $425,000 in Massachusetts. Our community, of course, is participating. And a check to United Cerebral Palsy, care of your postmaster, will be the finest of all Mother's Day tributes.

Political Overtones

The man causing the biggest stir in the Democratic ranks is fast-moving, colorful Councillor McDonough, who has been darting in and out of towns and villages in the hinterlands of the State to build up a backlog of support.

Democratic eyebrows were lifted when Mayor Daniel M. Brunton of Springfield, the most influential Democrat in his section of the State, not only supported McDonough but assumed the role of his campaign manager in western Massachusetts, and several other Mayors gave their backing to the Executive Councillor.

This doesn't mean that McDonough already is assured of carrying his party's banner against Governor Christian A. Hertler in the November election or that he is necessarily going to swoop up all the Democratic delegates from Worcester to the New York line, because a large number of legislators are working energetically in behalf of Minority House Leader Murphy, the Democratic spokesman in the lower chamber of the State Legislature.

But it did give a tremendous lift to McDonough's stock. It answered the questions of those delegates who have been wondering whether he would be a potent candidate. Although he started later than Murphy because of his expectation that ex-Governor Dever would agree to run, McDonough now appears to be battling the Malden man very nearly on even terms, with four weeks still remaining before the convention.

McDonough is a flamboyant, spectacular, ebullient political figure who jumped into the Democratic gubernatorial field with a swish and a splash at a time when Democratic hopes were sagging as a result of successive announcements by Mayor Hynes and ex-Governor Dever that they would not run.

Where Murphy is the scholarly, hard-working student of State government, the ebullient McDonough is a skillful and resourceful politician and the man who for years has been running Democratic conventions and banquets.

He knows Democratic politicos across the State, for he handled all the arrangements for the Massachusetts contingents at the last several Democratic national conventions, and he directed the Jackson-Jefferson dinner staged last winter. He campaigned throughout the Commonwealth with Dever and the later Maurice J. Tobin in every gubernatorial fight since 1946.

The shrewd McDonough is following an unusual strategy, and it will be interesting to see how it works. Although the bulk of the delegates will be from the Metropolitan Boston area, McDonough is concentrating momentarily on lining up support in the more distant reaches of the State.

His obvious purpose is to be able to show the Greater Boston delegates, who are watching to see how the political winds are blowing, an impressive display of strength elsewhere in the Commonwealth for psychological purposes.

So confident are McDonough's backers that their man will be the eventual choice of the Democratic State convention as its gubernatorial standard-bearer, that they are already planning steps to avert any likelihood of a deadlock.

Their intention is to insist upon the adoption of rules which provide that one candidate will be eliminated from the running on each ballot at the convention.

In other words, if five names are placed in nomination for the gubernatorial endorsement, the man who runs fifth on the first ballot will be automatically dropped out in the event that no-contender draws a majority of the votes. This system would be followed on each succeeding ballot.

That will get matters down to the point where there will be only two candidates in the field, and one of them obviously will have to win.

The Republicans followed that procedure at their 1952 conclave. There will be considerable Democratic opposition to the proposal, but unless such a scheme is adopted the convention might be tied up indefinitely by a series of deadlocks.

While they aren't saying much about it, the McDonough delegates probably will try to see that the Democratic candidate for Governor will be nominated first so that he will have a voice in fashioning the rest of the ticket.

One of the big weaknesses of the Democratic party in Massachusetts at the present time is that it has no strong dominant leader who can put an end to squabbles by decreeing what is to be done on such matters as the convention procedure to be followed and the order in which candidates will be picked.

Ex-Governor Dever would have filled that role, if he had agreed to run. But having eliminated himself as an active candidate, it's doubtful that he will step back even as temporary boss, though he is the one man who might be able to do so.

Mayor Hynes intends to remain apart from all the primary battling. He will not attend the convention or support any of the candidates either there or in the September primary. Senator John F. Kennedy evidently intends to concentrate on his Washington duties and remain aloof from the intra-party fights back home.

Whether McDonough can step forward as the Democratic leader who will run things with a firm hand and brush aside the confusion and chaos likely to develop at the start of the first State convention the Democratic party in Massachusetts has held in two decades, remains to be seen.

RANDOM CLIPPINGS

A 21-year-old heir to a $2,500,000 Canadian fortune is facing trial in Toronto on charges of participating in a $41 holdup.

An attempt is being made in New York to draft Mayor Wagner as the Democratic opponent against Governor Dewey because of the belief that he would be a stronger candidate than Congressman Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr.

James Hatchett was sentenced to six months in the Toledo county jail after being found guilty of hitting his mother on the head with the family Bible.

Five youths ranging in age from 7 to 12 broke into a Spokane, Wash. warehouse and amused themselves by driving cars around and smashing into each other. They caused damage estimated at $4,000. Spokane authorities, needless to say do not regard that as a wholesome form of juvenile recreation.

Judge William O. Beach, Jr., of Clarksville, Tenn., fined his wife $2 for driving without a license and imposed a $5 fine on his mother-in-law for driving without proper license plates. Now what we're wondering is whether the judge went home that night.

A "ghost" which for weeks "haunted" apartment dwellers in Stuttgart, Germany, turned out to be an apartment hunter who admitted to police that he had knocked on windows and rattled doors in the hope that one of the tenants would think the place was haunted and move out.

Mrs. Doris Katz of Paterson, N. J., brought suit for divorce, complaining that her husband bawled her out every time she sneezed.

After retaining for nine years the gray-green pants which Benito Mussolini was wearing, when he was captured and executed in 1945, Italian authorities this week have decided to burn the trousers this week since no one has shown up to claim them. It may be observed that they are not acting impulsively or with undue haste.

The London Daily Mail reports that the custodian of a fire siren in a British village recently refused to sound the signal. He thought that the person giving the alarm was perpetrating a prank because the address was his own house. We are sure you can guess the rest.

A 39-year-old bandit fashioned a mask from a lace curtain. In the midst of a holdup in Jackson, Mich., the lace curtain mask slipped down from his face, and his victim recognized him. He is now serving seven years in Southern Michigan Prison.

Letters to the Editor

"THE NEW LOOK"

Editor, Newton Graphic:

If the "new look" in Newton is a gasoline station in the heart of a residential district as Mr. Kitson's letter in March 23's issue suggests, we suggest that Mr. Kitson look around him again.

Possibly he also suffers from near-sightedness as it is unlikely that he does not see the new Memorial School some few hundred feet from the "new look" gasoline station.

Do progressive gas stations now locate on dead end streets where close to 1000 small children play?

Perhaps Mr. Kitson's head is spinning from riding the wheel of progress.

Rip Van Winkle

WHY NOT A BOYS CLUB

Editor, Newton Graphic:

Much has been said and written about the pros and cons of child behavior and how to prevent child delinquency.

Society in general has, and owes a large responsibility to our youth, in eliminating obscene literature and bad movies, within the sphere of bad influence on the morals of our children. There is no overall cure in my estimation; but much can and should be done to safeguard our youth; and through educational and corrective measures, prevent a later life of criminal tendencies, with proper advice, counsel and supervision.

The famous founder of Boys Town said: "there is no such thing as a bad boy." This to me means, that we don't inherit good or bad qualities as such. Our behavior pattern is formed and gets good or bad as we reach maturity and physical perfection. Of course many factors have to be taken into consideration, such as: home life and environment, proper educational and counseling facilities to conform with each child's abilities; and proper recreational facilities; which would help the growth of our youth into strong, healthy and useful citizens of our community.

Playgrounds and youth centers should be of first importance and their building stressed as of paramount importance.

TELE- VIEWING THE NEWS

By LEE LOUMOS

One of the interesting things about television is that it "teaches" the mind and eye to see what it didn't seem to be getting anywhere before video. Guy Madison is a good example. His movie career is beginning again because of the hit following his built-up hit "Wild Bill Hickok" identity on television. Jon Hall is another case in point. Hall made better known today as "Ranier" of the Ramar series he's also making a name in a jungle setting full-length movie for release in the nation's theaters. And while we're speaking of familiar movie faces now on TV, that strange young actress who was a regular on the "Red Buttons" show belongs to Huntz Hall, who gained early fame as one of the screen's "Dead End Kids."

Jackie Gleason won't be "seen" on video this summer, as his Saturday night show takes a vacation . . . but he'll be there behind the scenes. His new producer, Jim McElroy, is placing an hour variety show built around Tommy and Jimmy Dorsey and their bands, as well as top guest stars each week. You can't expect to see "Gomer Pyle" again this summer, but the new "TV set" . . . which is a good reason for calling in our television technicians. Know exactly what is causing unnecessary interference and how to correct the condition if possible is a job for an experienced technician. If you have "static" lines or any other annoying interference problem, call on our experienced technicians for the right answer to the problem. They'll give you new leads for your latest video set. to our children as their elders, so that they can look forward to wholesome, clean and healthy entertainment in their youth, with modern recreational facilities.

In Newton, I will admit, we do have a boy's club, but I am sorry to say: "it doesn't come up to standard requirements or facilities a good club should have." There is no gymnasium, bowling alleys, basketball or swimming pool with showers. There is nothing here they can enjoy in performance of athletic endeavors or worthwhile entertainment.

Why are we so lacking in Newton, when it comes to the general welfare of our children? Why is it we can build the best of schools for educational purposes, and give nothing for the physical and mental betterment of our children? To me this just doesn't make any sense. It is false economy pushed to the utmost, to the detriment of our children.

A modern boy's club should be built in Newton with an enclosed swimming pool, gymnasium, bowling alleys and basketball facilities. I recommend the immediate construction forthwith; a club which would be similar but better than the boy's club in our nearby community of Waltham. This could be centrally located and constructed at Albermarle; where there is much land, and could be easily reached from all parts of Newton.

This club would be known as and called the "Newton Boys' Club," and in the building of such club, we, the citizens of Newton could take pride, and would, and could be justly proud in keeping faith with the youth of our City. A great American President once said: "Flaming youth has become a flaming question. And youth comes to us wanting to know what we may propose to do about a society that hurts so many of them."

Fire Fighters To Learn Use Of Gas Masks

"Refresher courses" in the use of all types of gas masks in firefighting will be given to all members of the Newton Fire Department, according to Chief John E. Corcoran, who has appointed Lt. Joseph P. Walton of Engine 3 as instructor.

Purposes of the instructions, the chief states, are "to properly train all new members of the Fire Department in the use advantages and disadvantages of all types of gas masks used in firefighting, and to provide a refresher course for the veteran firefighters." The instructions will continue until all members have received training.

Lt. Walton, who was an instructor in a firefighting school with the Navy in Boston during World War II, was appointed to the Fire Department in 1937. His Naval service was from 1942 to 1945.

Chief Corcoran's outline of Lt. Walton's training in the Navy follows:

"He received 13 weeks of training at the Naval Operations Base, Norfolk, Virginia which consisted partly of the Chemox Mask. This training covered the use of the Chemox Mask in all types of Class A-B-C fires its advantages and disadvantages, limitations etc. He was sent to the Mine Safety Appliance Company at Pittsburgh, Pa. While assigned there, he saw the mask and all its parts manufactured, assembled, and tested.

"He was an instructor at the Fire Fighters' School, Boston, and one of his duties was to instruct the personnel from all types of ships and shore stations. This instruction consisted of a thorough explanation of the Chemox Mask, wearing of the mask, and extinguishing Class A-B-C fires with high and low velocity fog. For about three and one-half years he helped to instruct about 200 men per week in all phases of firefighting with the mask. He also wore the Chemox Mask fighting ship fires at sea."

Time limits for the gas masks to be used in the instruction are Chemox, 45 minutes; all-service, two hours; and Scott Air-Pak, 30 minutes. Also to be included is the fresh air line technique, which has no time limit. This is a respiratory device for providing a supply of fresh air from the outside atmosphere to an operator working in a contaminated atmosphere.

Newton-Hershey Exchange Reports

By MARY KOZMIER

Before our High School group left on April 19, we had been told to expect a wonderful time but none of us had really anticipated just how wonderful our Exchange would be. Hershey, Pa., our destination, is a unique town. It is set in the midst of Pennsylvania's beautiful, sloping, green hills. The town itself is a complete unit: it has a community theater, arena stadium, civic center, and Community Inn as well as some of the finest golf courses and swimming pools in the nation. The Hershey Hotel, a magnificent specimen of Spanish architecture, boasts tulip and rose gardens that are known throughout the country. When they are in bloom special trains run from Philadelphia to accommodate the numerous sight-seers.

Our welcome was heart-warming. Our reception into the Hershey families was like that accorded to life-long friends. That was typical of the spirit which we found everywhere. We weren't visitors; we were welcome guests. Our first morning was spent visiting classes with our Hershey hosts and in familiarizing ourselves with Hershey High School, a beautiful and modern building. In the afternoon, we toured the Hotel, Arena and the Derry Church. That evening the Lions Club gave a wonderful dinner. An informal dance at the High School followed. We went home that evening brimming with enthusiasm, completely won over to this, our foster town.

Wednesday we toured the famous Hershey Chocolate factory and found that the story was true that the chocolate aroma pervaded the entire community. All the girls forgot their diets and really went to town eating that delicious fresh candy. That afternoon reception was held for the Newtontonites in the gym followed by a track meet with two neighboring high schools.

Thursday we visited the state capitol at Harrisburg.

After being much impressed by its grandeur, we ate lunch

at the Plantation Room of the Penn Harris Hotel, a "must"

for anyone who loves delicious food in abundance. We all fit into that category. A tour of the Steelton branch of the

Bethlehem Steel Company ensured, and, although we all felt as if we had walked the entire length of Pennsylvania, everyone learned a great deal.

Friday was one of the high spots of the trip, if any one activity can be singled out.

Milton S. Hershey, the benefactor but not patron of the town, established the Hershey

Industrial School for boys who have lost at least one parent

through death. These boys live in cottages or farms, depending on their age. Each home has two married couples

who act as "Mom" and "Dad."

We split up into groups of four and ate in the cottages with the younger boys. That was an experience none of us will ever forget. The friendly, cooperative, and homely atmosphere astounded us, although there is no real reason why it should have. Nothing could be further from the accepted idea of an orphans' home. We all fell in love with the darling little boys and now

several of our group are writing them. After saying goodbye to the boys we met our

Hershey partners and left for a tour of the ore mines and the Cloisters. From there we proceeded to the Green Dragon, and open-air Pennsylvania Dutch market. We saw cow auctions and thousand other unforgettable sights. The day ended on a gay note with a party at the home of one of the Hershey boys.

Saturday was spent visiting Gettysburg. History lived when we stood on the same ground on which the Civil War heroes had fought and died. That evening we had a square dance at a barn in a near-by town. Most of us had never been to a real square dance before and we had a perfectly marvelous time. That was another high spot.

After spending Sunday with our families and at the farm of one of the boys where, incidentally, we got our first chance to milk a cow and ride horseback, we were all set for a busy day. The Rotary Club put on a delicious luncheon from which we went to visit the State Police Training School, Trick riders, trained horses, and trained dogs all put on a wonderful show for us. We then visited the Hershey Museum. That evening some of the mothers prepared an unforgettable Pennsylvania Dutch dinner, complete with the famous seven sweets and seven sours and shoofly pie. After thoroughly indulging in this fabulous food, we had our final evaluation meeting.

When our bus left Hershey the next morning, there was scarcely a dry eye in the crowd, to borrow a hackneyed but still appropriate phrase. All the talk consisted of plans for a return visit to Hershey or Newton next summer. It was a very difficult thing to even bid "au revoir" to our friends. We had all learned a tremendous amount in that short week, and had stored up a host of memories. We discovered that people are basically alike, with the trimmings alone providing the difference. We had met as strangers and parted as friends. We had learned to adapt ourselves to a different environment and, as one boy put it, "After seeing other homes I've decided that my family's pretty normal after all!"

On the return trip our faculty leaders Mr. Harry Walen and Miss Clara' Ashley arranged stop-overs in Philadelphia and New York so that we could see the Liberty Bell and visit Radio City. The welcome that awaited us upon returning to Newton was a fitting climax to our high adventure.

CITY FACED WITH TWIN PROBLEM IN FUTURE SCHOOL BUILDING PROGRAM

New High Schools, Replacement Of Obsolete Units, Need Long Range Study, States Taxpayers

Advocating strengthening and further developing a Planning Board, a proposal has been advanced this week by the Taxpayers' Association in relation to the school construction problem which now begins to face the city.

"In Newton," states the report, "we have built as expensive elementary schools as any community in Massachusetts. Now we are faced with a twin problem: on the one hand we are planning new high schools at continually increasing rate of expense per pupil; on the other hand, as the current Macaroni situation indicates, we are in trouble with educationally obsolescent buildings. In Newton, the additional school program is coming into conflict financially with the replacement school program."

Stated as a series of propositions, according to the association, the situation can be outlined as follows:

"In new elementary school construction Newton is spending more, on the average, per pupil served than any other municipality in Massachusetts.

"Newton is faced with as large an increment of growing children at almost any other community in Massachusetts, requiring a huge program of new additional school facilities.

"Newton is also faced with an important replacement program for functionally obsolescent schools.

"Within our present financial framework, unless we can reduce our investment per child in the additional school construction, the replacement program must be delayed just that much longer."

The Taxpayers' Association, first asking what can be done about it, places its recommendations squarely to the forefront by stating:

"First, we cannot wait any longer to explore all elements concerned with school construction, using the capacities of all interested groups. One approach may be found in a part of the survey of secondary school requirements now being conducted under the aegis of the school committee.

"Second, since the city administration, not the school committee, is charged with the duty of actually building the buildings it seems clear to us that a citywide group should be established, to concentrate particularly upon the possibility of building architecturally attractive but more especially engineering adaptable and educationally sound buildings at a lower cost.

"Third, in our opinion there is an opportunity to resolve both the additional and replacement programs within our present financial framework if such an approach is made by the city before the element of time becomes too critical.

"Fourth, the city administration to work effectively for its point of view it should have a group as well qualified as the representatives of the school group to work out the programs in their detail, extent and scheduling.

"Fifth, what of the city's financial framework itself? Here again the city, it seems to us, requires a continuing body of men, supplied with as complete information as it is possible to obtain, both from a regularly operating and unified statistical and record source within the city government and from sources outside the city."

In discussing the internal governmental structure of the city, the association says:

"We believe Newton now has a great opportunity, by further developing its official practices, to assist the existing city authorities in reaching their decisions.

"For example, we think a centralizing of financial, recording, and statistical operations can provide even a more efficient internal performance than the city now has. Unified procedures, of themselves, if well worked out and maintained can provide relatively objective standards over a period of time.

"By developing such a unifying tool the city can have at least the minimum benefits accruing from the regular channelling and focusing of the operating information which is now scattered through the various departments. A smooth flow of such knowledge through established procedural channels to the top is frequently a matter of life or death in the management of private business. It would have great value in obtaining more efficient management in a municipal corporation.

"It may be possible to achieve the end through departmental cooperation, but somehow we believe a formal office for centralizing the information offers a firmer basis for the long haul.

"Once thoroughly established, the proposed central office can be used effectively for other purposes than merely the smoother internal operations of the city administratively.

"Leaving aside the advantage of enabling newly appointed or elected officials to have a source from which they can become more quickly familiar with actual city operations as a whole, or the possible standardization of office machinery and related routines, etc., a firm statistical foundation could be laid as a regular procedure, rather than through spasmodic special surveys, for various major policy decisions — in project accounting and budgeting, purchasing practice and results, in personnel management, or, what we think is most important now, the handling and budgeting of capital improvements.

"Suppose, for example, the city should adopt all or part of the Association's recently proposed ordinance strengthening and further developing the Planning Board. That board would then have as it does not now, a complete and currently up to date body of information, at least as far as the city itself is concerned. By use of such regularly supplied data, the board could then better perform its function of judging capital improvements in general or specifically, of deciding about the use of land in its various aspects, or of reviewing and projecting the financial framework within which the city should grow and operate.

"To take a specific major problem, the board would then be in position to better help the city decide what to do about what kind of school building where and when, additional or replacement, and its recommendations would carry great weight in both the official family.

"The city administration to work effectively for its point of view it should have a group as well qualified as the representatives of the school group to work out the programs in their detail, extent and scheduling.

"In discussing the internal governmental structure of the city, the association says:

"We believe Newton now has the trained arborist, often called a "tree expert," usually has made the care of trees his life's work, according to the National Arborist Association.

"The association notes that "such a strengthened board's recommendations would be just that, since the Mayor and Aldermen actually would be the ones to finally decide the action to be taken."

Concluding, the association asks, "is such a concept too idealistic? We think it can be made extremely practical. We believe it is worth at least the attempt to make it possible. We recognize some, probably not all, of the obstacles and difficulties in the way of establishing a unified accounting, procedures, records and statistical center for the city whether by merger, addition, or what not. We recognize some of the difficulties involved in setting up such a Planning Board as we have outlined."

SPORTS

A deluge of "liquid sunshine" which makes the flowers grow but makes no lovers of nature out of sports fans, took over the local sports scene this week. Washed out Monday were baseball games between Rindge and Newton High, Our Lady's at St. Charles of Waltham and the Newton East Little League game . . . Tuesday was no better, and down the drain went the Brookline and Newton High game, along with the Our Lady's-St. Patrick's of Watertown encounter. This marked the second time rain had forced postponement of Rindge Tech's invasion of Newton High. The game was rescheduled—with crossed fingers—for yesterday (Wednesday) afternoon, too late to be covered in this week's Newton Graphic . . . The Newton High Tigers are now resting in a fourth-place tie in its defense of the 1954 Suburban League crown with a 2-2 mark. Newton's pair of losses are not too stiff a blow to its title hopes, however, since every team in the league has lost at least once. No outstanding team has yet appeared, leaving the race wide open for every squad except feeble Arlington and even-weaker Rindge Tech.

Newton dropped to the .500 mark Friday afternoon during an ill-fated invasion of Waltham High's home grounds. Waltham took the decision by a narrow 7-6 margin for its first victory in the 1953-54 school year over a major Newton team . . . It was game packed with "if's" and, as usually happens with these crosstown rivals, was a heart-throbbing encounter right up to the final out.

After three scoreless innings, during which time Tiger hurler Russ Halloran appeared untouchable, Newton was handed three runs by the home team. A walk, a pair of two-base errors and a solid single to center by Billy Hamill brought three runs clattering across the plate . . . But in the last half of that frame, the roof fell in. An error started things off on the wrong foot, and the presence of a baserunner seemed to hamper Halloran's effectiveness. A walk and three singles gave Waltham four runs and a lead it never relinquished. Actually, two of the singles were tainted—one took a high hop over the drawn-in infield and another pop-up sliced into right field. . . . By the seventh frame, fielding lapses and absent-minded play, combined with opportune Waltham hitting, gave the Watch City nine a 7-3 lead. The Orange and Black struck back with two runs in the eighth as pitcher Dick Joyal seemed on the ropes, and started the ninth with a bang . . . Halloran, playing first base after being relieved by Art DeStefano, slapped a ground ball inside the third-base bag. The Waltham fielder moved quickly in front of the ball and threw Halloran out by half the length of the baseline as the Newton runner tried to make second.

The importance of that play was shown when Jim Wiper was struck by a pitch and Hamill followed with a ringing single to center, his fourth base knock of the game . . . Wiper tallied on a groundout to bring Newton within one run of a tie, after moving up on a wild pitch. But Hamill was left stranded impatiently on third as pinch-hitter Neil Mann missed a 3-2 pitch to end the game.

The loss must have been especially disheartening to Coach Howie Ferguson, since Newton was handed more than enough chances to salt the game away. Missed sacrifices, swinging at bad balls, shoddy infield play, confused base-running, marked Newton's efforts for the afternoon . . . The lone bright spot in the game—aside from the welcome return of hurler DeStefano, back from a siege of pneumonia—was the 4-for-4 performance of Hamill. Billy smashed three singles and a double to centerfield, practically all to the same spot. He would have

FOR MOTHER'S DAY—Dana Gleason, proprietor of Gleason's Flowers, 415 Centre street, Newton, prepares some of his stock for Sunday's commemoration of Mother's Day. The popular Newton florist offers a wide selection of cut flowers, potted plants and flower arrangements for all occasions. (Photo by Gordon R. Wilk)

Remember Gleason's Flowers For Gifts on Mother's Day

With Mother's Day only three days away, Gleason's Flowers at 415 Centre street, Newton, is a bee-hive of activity as Newtonites prepare to pay floral tributes to their mothers.

A wide variety of traditional plants, plus everything from a single carnation to a basket bouquet, is certain to end your Mother's Day shopping worries.

Dana W. Gleason, for whom the store is named, is ready to help customers solve their flower problems. What type of flowers for a hospitalized friend, what kind of corsage for your "best girl," what sort of blossoms to say "thank you"—all are at Mr. Gleason's fingertips.

Mr. Gleason has been at the Centre street location for the past six years. Previously he operated his flower shop for two years at 243 Auburn street, Auburndale. A graduate of Rittner's School of Floral Design, he "interned" at other shops before opening his own.

City. The new service will be performed as a function of the Executive Department.

Mayor Whitmore further stated: "We are moving the administration toward the public that we may better understand and respond to them. We feel that a taxpayer is the most important person to enter city hall—he is not an interruption of our work—he is the purpose of it, a part of it."

When a taxpayer brings us his problem, our job is to handle him in such a way as to be beneficial to him and to ourselves.

"We will therefore be operating on the ground level to guide and to convey information to the public. Likewise, we will be in a position to interpret information about public attitudes and their impressions concerning the City's services. We expect it will take a few days for our Information representative to utilize all the facilities at her command. On the basis of personal observation and conversations we plan to make our standards and practices more understandable to the public."

This is the first and most important innovation designed by the new administration to improve municipal public relations.

Silver's Bakery Opens Today; Cakes, Delicacies Featured

Silver's Bakery — Newton's newest bake shop—opened its doors for business today (Thursday), featuring special cakes and party delicacies at its modern, spotless building at 1136 Beacon street, Newton Highlands.

Proprietor of the new bakery, which is located only a stone's throw from "Four Corners," is Phil Dores. For the first few months, his wife, Louise, will join him in introducing the Silver's Bakery to Newton customers.

Mr. Dores has been in the bakery business for the past 25 years, starting as an apprentice at an early age. He has always specialized in New York style cakes, pastries and party cakes.

One of his largest productions in the cake field was one made in the shape of an aircraft carrier for a Navy admiral. He has also been the guiding hand behind a number of special cakes which have attracted wide attention.

Just as Mr. Dores is no novice in the bakery field, so the Silver's Bakery is also a late entry. It has been in existence over the past half-century in Boston's West End. At one time it was the largest bakery in Boston.

Mr. Dores purchased the bakery six years ago and has conducted it since then. The Newton Highlands shop will be conducted in addition to the Boston plant, and some baking will be done here for Boston.

Silver's Bakery will be the only shop in Newton baking Jewish rye bread. Special emphasis will be placed, according to Mr. Dores, on party cakes, tea rolls, small salt sticks, onion rolls and wedding, birthday, anniversary and other cakes for special occasions.

Born in May?

Emerald is Your Birthstone, as it is for Irving Berlin, Ezio Pinza, Sam Snead and Others.

The emerald, birthstone for May, has always been considered a love stone, closely identified with Venus and particularly propitious for women, bringing them happiness in love and comfort in domestic affairs, according to the Jewelry Industry Council.

Entitled to wear the emerald as a lucky birthstone are popular leaders in the entertainment world: Irving Berlin, Benny Goodman, Ezio Pinza, Sir Laurence Olivier, Cornell Otis Skinner. In the field of sports, Joe Louis and Sam Snead claim May as their month. Henri Bonnet, former French ambassador to the United States, and Bishop Fulton J. Sheen, Catholic theologian and educator, are on the May list, which also includes Florence Nightingale, Ralph Waldo Emerson and Walt Whitman.

Among the legends and superstitions that have attached themselves to this beautiful green stone is a belief that conjurers and magicians could not weave a spell about anyone who wore an emerald. Gold and emerald jewelry has been found in the mounds of Tuscany, Herculaneum and Pompeii - cities which lay in ruin hundreds of years before America was discovered. The most important source of emeralds today, however, is South America.

With its rich color and depth, the emerald makes a handsome ring stone for men and women, and is particularly suited to delicate earrings, bracelets, brooches and clips.

In the search for facts about America's first successful ironworks built at Saugus, Mass., 300 years ago historians examined thousands of old documents. In addition, letters in private family collections in New England yielded clues and bits of information on the industrial economy of the Massachusetts Bay Colony.

The Saugus ironworks, built more than three centuries ago, has been called "a prototype of American heavy industry."

Rep. Heaney Is Honored by GOP Women

A large number of women Republican workers from Wards 4, 5, and 6 honored Arthur G. Heaney, recently elected Representative from the Fifth Middlesex District, at a morning coffee which was held at the Newton Highlands Workshop on Thursday, April 29th.

Representative Heaney spoke about some of the impressions gained and about legislation enacted during his first six weeks in office. Referring to the State-wide elections next Fall, he said: "Governor Hertler deserves a second term in office. The voters of Newton can contribute tremendously to this desirable goal by not only returning Republican legislators to Beacon Hill but also by making sure that Governor Hertler and the entire slate of candidates for State office are given the largest majority ever from our City. We must assume nothing except that every single vote is vitally needed."

The Committee in charge of arrangements for Representative Heaney's reception includes: Mrs. William C. Carter; Mrs. Roger F. Curry; Mrs. Thomas C. Curtis; Mrs. Spencer F. Deming; Mrs. Thomas S. Derr; Mrs. George J. Elbaum; Mrs. E. Sherman Hall; Mrs. Arthur N. Hogquist; Mrs. John M. Parkinson; Mrs. Willard G. Rice; Mrs. David M. Schulman; and Mrs. John B. Stetson.

HOW FAR SHOULD WE GO HELPING THE FRENCH IN INDO-CHINA?

Elizabeth C. Waters, 744 Watertown street, Newtonville, secretary - housekeeper. "I should certainly dislike seeing the United States send troops to aid in this controversy. It has all the earmarks of another Korean situation which, as MacArthur has said 'had we been allowed a victory there when we had it in our hands, there never would have been this Indo-China crisis.' In World War I and II there was a great feeling of patriotism and everyone wished they were able to aid in whatever way they could—but not so in the Korean situation, nor Indo-China. We are not a warring nation and we do not like having war thrust upon us."

Philip Aliano, Sudbury, Newtonville barber. "We should keep out of the whole thing as much as possible. I believe in supplying them, to go ahead and help them win. But I don't think we should go into the fighting or get into a war. Giving supplies and guns should be enough."

Kathleen MacDonald, 311 California street, Newton, waitress. "I think we should send supplies, but we should not send any men. We did our share in Korea. If we did go over, it could cause World War III. It wouldn't be fair to send the men who are already in Korea to Indo-China. It seems to me these men have already been through plenty."

Hal Wylie, 66 Ashton avenue, Newton Centre, salesman. "The United States should certainly not go any further in Indo-China than we have thus far. The French defenders have been helped a great deal by the planes and material we have sent already."

Aldermen to Request Board Reconsider 4 Adverse Votes

In an unusual move, four Newton aldermen have signed their intention to seek reconsideration of four separate items rejected by the Board of Aldermen last week.

The docket for the May 17 meeting lists "notice of intention to move reconsideration" of two petitions seeking subdivisions of lots, a petition offering to purchase city-owned land, and a recommendation by the Newton Taxpayers' Association regarding duties of the aldermen.

Winfield C. Anderson, alderman-at-large from Ward 7, is planning to ask another vote on a petition by Glenley Inc. for subdivision of a 136,300 square foot lot on Kendrick street, Newton, for the construction of single-family houses.

Mr. Anderson will seek the reconsideration according to the docket, "after learning that Mr. (Leo E.) Wolf (acting on behalf of the company) is very willing to cooperate in upgrading sizes of lots to meet with the Board's wishes, as far as possible, and within reason." The lots are located on the Newton-Brighton line and are arranged along a "paper" road to be known as Margo road.

POLITICAL OVERTONES

Furcolo and Philbin Engaging in Hot Senatorial Race . . . Winner Gets Dubious Privilege of Facing Saltonstall . . .

Although it has been completely overshadowed by an umbrella of more spectacular events, including the McCarthy-Pentagon what-is-it in Washington, the fact is that State Terasurer Foster Furculo of Springfield and Congressman Philip J. Philbin of Clinton are waging a lively fight for the rather doubtful privilege of running against Senator Leverett Saltonstall next November.

An unusual aspect to this situation is that Philbin never actually has announced himself a candidate for the Senate, but he obviously is just as much in the race as is Furculo, and he has lined up a sizeable number of delegates. Philbin has told his followers that he will make a formal declaration of his intentions, when he gets around to it, but up to the time this is being written no such statement has been forthcoming.

A good many Democratic politicians believe privately that the race for their party's endorsement for the Senate is being waged along a road that leads to nowhere, and they suspect that the man who loses the battle is more likely to remain in public life than the one who achieves the right of contesting with Mr. Saltonstall.

The senior Massachusetts Senator has demonstrated himself a pretty robust vote-getter, and it seems evident that it would take a Democratic tidal wave of devastating proportions to sweep him out of office next November.

until some other solution, if not that one, is worked out for the establishment of a tool for more coherently influencing the growth and development of the city than is at present being done."

Last week, after this petition was voted down, Executive Director Loren F. Muther, Jr., commented the Planning Board had shown "the weakness of its present state" by taking no action on a proposed zone change on the Worcester turnpike near the Hammond Pond parkway.

The zone change was sought for construction of a retail furniture store, and was approved by the aldermen. The Planning Board made no recommendation on the change and then suggested a survey be made of that general area regarding possible zone changes.

Reconsideration of a past vote is in itself unusual, since only an alderman voting on the prevailing side can seek it. Even rarer is four aldermen who voted against four separate matters asking the board to reconsider its stand.

homeless refugees in their own country. In response to their plight, the Save the Children Federation continues to send warm clothing and shoes to these victims of Communist aggression.

In many countries of Europe the scars of war have not yet healed. Save the Children Federation representatives in Europe report that clothing needs are particularly acute in many areas of Italy, and in Greece, where villages who fled from Communist aggression have returned to their native homes only to find them in ruins.

In the United States clothing is distributed in low-income rural areas of eight Southern and Mid-western States and on the Navajo and Papago Indian Reservations. If it were not for the Bundle Day collections, thousands of these rural children would not be able to attend school because of the lack of adequate clothing.

Superintendent Gores said that good wearable clothing of all types, in babies', children's and adult sizes; blankets, sheets and other bedding; and low-heeled shoes are especially needed.

from meter revenue, the off-street parking expansion, while it should be continued, should be financed from now on from that source and not from general funds.

"As to the salary situation, we believe that to hold surplus for the possibility of making an upward salary adjustment in the latter part of the year amounts to setting up an undefined supplementary budget for a contemplated operating expense—a policy that has several bad features.

"First: We do not believe Newton should embark on the hazardous procedure of adopting supplementary budgets. The situation is bad enough at the State House not to warrant emulation, and so far this city has not succumbed to that temptation.

"Second: We don't think a supplementary budget for a pay raise is a proper use of what should be, even at best, an emergency procedure.

"Third: A real review of personal practice and procedure in the city, resulting in a thorough range overhaul of the city's practice can hardly be well done much before the end of this year.

"Fourth: We would like to see a thorough job done in this field for once. We believe the city employees should be fairly and adequately paid in terms of the current market and working conditions. And we really mean that, especially as to those adjustments that are needed to smooth out some of the unfairness in the present set up. We would be remiss however, if we did not point out that in terms of cost of living, standard of living, hours, fringe benefits the great majority of the city and general working conditions force has kept well up with the times.

"Fifth: We think that the results of the thorough review should be embodied in salary and wage recommendations to take effect as of January 1, 1955, the new calendar-fiscal year.

"Therefore we don't think that an unspecified amount should be held from the tax payers now for a partial year's adjustment. We have unfortunately seen the effect of having to split the salary year in the school department where occasionally advantage is taken of the split year in timing 'adjustments' always upward. The city side should not follow that bad precedent.

"As to the other elements in the tax rate calculation:

"The power of the Tax Commission to estimate receipts of municipalities carries with it the inherent power to re-estimate them and it is possible that strong representations made to the Commission, now that the year is well along, could work to the tax rate's advantage on that front.

"As to the valuation base, we don't know what the next year will bring. It is proper to point out that at no time in recent years has the city used so uncertain a total valuation figure as was used recently when the vote from surplus was taken."

Reverend Coe is the new minister of the Mount Vernon Congregational Church in Boston. He is the former pastor of the Congregational church attended by many students at Amherst College and the University of Massachusetts at Amherst.

Eldred M. Peterson, clerk of the Association and chairman of the Annual Meeting committee presided. In a special presentation of a YMCA program, several members of the Youth Work and Young Adult divisions participated with John E. Danielson as narrator. Recognition was given to Frank A.

Day, Jr., a past president of the Newton YMCA for his 19 years as treasurer of the Two State Y Committee. Harold T. Pillsbury gave the Association's financial report for 1953 and Alex R. Miller stated the relationships of the Y's work to other Newton agencies in his general secretary's report.

In his annual president's report, Mr. Bacon stated, "During the past year we received $138,000 in Building Fund gifts, one-half of the minimum we need to start our construction and rebuilding program. Our work does not end here, and before we are through we will have the $650,000 necessary to build the additional gymnasium and supply facilities for women and girls."

"Our membership today is the largest in our 27 years of existence but the building is essentially the same as it was 42 years ago. In spite of our limited physical space we are carrying on an ever increasing building community."

Invocation was given by Dr. Ray A. Euston of the Eliot Congregational Church of Newton. The annual report was distributed by three boys who were Newton YMCA campers in 1953. Donald Small, who attended Camp Day; Ralph Edmunds of Camp Massasoit, and Jerry Ready, Camp Chickami. The Reverend W. Edge Dixon gave the benediction.

Re-elected by the new Board at its organizational meeting held following the Annual Meeting, were president, Frederick S. Bacon; vice president, Frederick A. Hawkins; and Charles E. Smith, assistant treasurer. Officers and new and re-elected members of the Board of Directors will be installed in office at the dinner meeting of the Board to be held Wednesday, June 9, 1954, according to Mr. Bacon.

7 Workshops Planned June 3 At PTA Council Conference

The third annual spring conference of the Parent-Teacher Council will be held at the Wilkins School, Auburndale, on Thursday, June 3.

During the afternoon, incoming and outgoing PTA officers, directors and committee chairmen as well as all principals and teachers are invited to contribute their experience and opinions to a varied list of workshops.

Carl P. Stevenson, president of Arthur D. Little, Inc., consulting engineers, will speak during the evening.

The conference is the direct outgrowth of two held in previous years. That in 1952 resulted in a PTA handbook which will be published this year as an integral part of the Newton School Report. The 1953 conference on the broader scope of the PTA has been of prime importance in the establishment of the Parent-Teacher-Student Association at Newton High School.

Seven workshops have been scheduled this year. The first two of these will be "After High School—What?", "Opportunities for Career Guidance," and "What About a Social Code?" These subjects are of particular interest to the parents and teachers of ninth grade and high school students.

Other workshops will discuss "Bridging the Gap from Elementary to Junior High School;" "Home and School—Which is Responsible for What?" "Better Programs for your PTA;" "A workshop for the Delegates to the Council;" and "A Pot Luck Workshop—Bring your Own Questions."

N.H. Volunteers For Channel 2 Plan Campaign

Newton Highlands workers on the Newton Committee for Educational Television met this week at the home of Mrs. Arthur Whitmore Jr. May 21 through 23 have been set aside for the sale of "these symbols of loyalty."

Pointing out that the sale of the poppies has been endorsed by the president and the Veterans Administration, the mayor stated the receipts "are used exclusively for the benefit of disabled and needy veterans, and the widows and orphans of deceased veterans."

He continued, "The basic purpose of the annual sale of Buddy Poppies is eloquently reflected in the desire 'To Honor the Dead by Helping the Living.'

Mayor Whitmore urged the citizens of this community to recognize the merits of this cause by contributing generously to its support through the purpose of Buddy Poppies, on May 21, 22 and 23, 1954, the days set aside for the distribution of these symbols of loyalty. I urge all patriotic citizens to wear a Buddy Poppy as mute evidence of our gratitude to the men of this country who have risked their lives in defense of the freedom which we continue to enjoy as American Citizens."

Channel 2 will be supported by voluntary contributions. The goal for Newton is $18,225 of the total $453,000 needed for operating expenses and some important items of equipment. Channel 2 will be operated by the Lowell Institute Cooperative Broadcasting Council. All major colleges and universities in the Boston area are members of the Council.

Individual contributions may be sent to Mrs. B. Alden Thresher, 667 Chestnut street, Waban 68. Make checks payable to Channel 2.

Manuel Beckwith Is Parent-Teacher-Student Ass'n Head

Manuel Beckwith was elected president of the newly formed Parent-Teacher-Student Association at a meeting held in the Newton High School Auditorium on Wednesday evening, May 5. Five to six hundred persons, including invited faculty members and students, were present.

After four selections were played by the Newton High School Orchestra under the direction of Donald S. March, the meeting was opened by Melvin J. Dangel, president of the PTA Council, who gave a brief history of the PTSA and outlined its structure. He said that at the 1953 PTA Council Spring Conference the workshop with the largest attendance was that on the problems of high school students. On the basis of this great interest the PTA Council set up a committee which has spent the ensuing year developing the principles of the Parent-Teacher-Student Association. The parents were to elect a president, vice-president, corresponding and recording secretaries, treasurer and 14 directors, one from each of the villages. The faculty will be represented by a vice-president and five directors; while the students will also have a vice-president and eight directors. This group will establish by-laws for the organization.

Principal Raymond A. Green pointed out that the prime objective of both parents and teachers was the best interests of young men and women. He felt that a strong PTSA will be a great help to the faculty in bettering communications toward a common goal.

Harold B. Gores, superintendent of schools, quoted B. Alden Thresher, director of admissions at MIT, who said: "Perhaps someday colleges will get smart and establish PTSA's to help bridge the gap they also feel."

Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., felt the PTSA would be of immeasurable service to the city as well as the high school. He said that a relatively few have "smirked the good name of young people and with undue publicity," that the PTSA can go a long way towards establishing new understanding. He also suggested that the organization might be the means of furnishing recreational "trimmings" such as a swimming pool and ice rink which are not possible through city financing.

Chairman of the nominating committee, George Koller, presented the slate of officers, headed by Beckwith as president; Max Brauner, parent vice-president; Mrs. John R. Swanton, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Stanley T. Johnson, recording secretary; and Harold Goldstein, treasurer.

Village representatives are as follows: Mrs. Chauncey Blossom, Auburndale; Mrs. Albert Kahn, Chestnut Hill; Mrs. Earl Bourne, Newton Highlands; John Downing, Newton Lower Falls; Arthur Walker, Newton Upper Falls; Mrs. Stanley M. Griswold, Newtonville; Mrs. Donato DeSantis, Nonantum; Harvey Kazmier, Oak Hill; Edward B. Ransom, Oak Hill Park; Mrs. Lee Di Carlo, Thompsonville; Norman Dow, Waban; George Koller, West Newton.

Mr. Beckwith spoke briefly, asking all present to fill in the questionnaire they had received at the door. On it parents were asked what they expected of the PTSA, what sort of programs they would like, what work they had done on other PTA's, and particularly, would they work on this one.

One of the students questioned the part the students would play and was answered very sincerely by Mrs. Genevieve R. Oncley, School Committee member, who said that such participation was vital to the success of the PTSA.

Rev. Taylor to Retire From Pastorate

Sunday, May 23, Rev. Dr. Francis Dee Taylor, Pastor of the First Methodist Church of Newton, will preach his last official sermon before retiring.

His fifty years of service in the ministry started in 1904 in the Missouri Conference. After he joined the New England Conference he held pastorates in Arlington Heights, Wakefield, Medford, Watertown and Newton Upper Falls. From 1943 to 1949 Dr. Taylor served the Conference as Superintendent of the Worcester District.

A reception for Dr. and Mrs. Taylor will be held in the Sanctuary on Saturday, May 15, from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Red Cross Plans 3 N.E. Schools In Water Safety

To prepare aquatic leaders for camp and community recreation programs, the American Red Cross will operate 32 aquatic and small craft schools this summer throughout the nation. Nine of the schools are in the Eastern area, and three are in New England.

Most of these 10-day schools get underway in June to prepare instructors for summer activities, according to Alfred W. Cantwell, national director for Safety Services of the Red Cross.

Commenting on this announcement, Gilbert J. Chapman, chairman of safety services for the Newton Chapter, said, "I cannot too often remind Newton citizens of the value of the aquatic schools and the 'Learn to Swim' program conducted by Red Cross each year at Crystal Lake in Newton Centre. Since the beginning of aquatic schools 30 years ago, the number of yearly drowning victims in this country has been reduced from 25,000 to 6500. This number must be further reduced and the support and use of the swimming programs is one of the most effective means."

More than 3000 students will be trained at the aquatic schools to teach Red Cross courses in swimming and lifesaving, first-aid, boating, canoeing, or sailing and to improve their own aquatic skills. They, in turn, will instruct others at summer camps, recreation and park departments, youth groups, clubs, Red Cross chapters, and other agencies.

The revised curriculum this year features advanced work in competitive, recreational, and synchronized swimming. Another new development includes instruction in outboard motor boat safety.

The schedule of the nearest aquatic and small craft schools in Eastern Area follows: Camp Kiwanis, South Hanson, Mass., June 13-23; Camp Tevya, Nashua, N. H., June 13-23; and Luther Gulick Camps, South Casco, Maine (Small Craft School), June 16-26.

the success of the PTSA and that this point could not be made too strongly.

The meeting closed after a brief "buzz" session in which everyone was asked to discuss the PTSA with his neighbor in the audience in an effort to find outstanding fields of interest.

Why Free The Atom?

Atomic energy was freed for destruction under wraps of greatest secrecy to become most effective in ending a great war.

Since that time there have been drastic and terrible advancements made in this destructive power.

It has been heralded as the Atomic Age—yet with only minor exceptions—the Atomic Age has meant death, destruction and fear.

American industry recognizes the need and importance of maintaining military control over this power, yet there is a growing belief that the future of this nation and the world can be based on the benefits to be gained by harnessing the energy to peacetime uses.

It is true that there has been considerable research into the atom for medicine and science. An atomic powered submarine is an actuality.

Industry has plans for atomic-electric power plants and there is an experiment underway for an atomic railroad locomotive.

A joint Congressional Committee held hearings some months ago to determine whether the time has arrived for the federal government to relinquish its rigid monopoly in the field of atomic energy and permit private industry to bring its full resources to play in the development of this new source of power and technological progress.

Witnesses who testified at these hearings presented almost unanimous judgment that the monopolistic hold by government must be loosened and American industry allowed to proceed in research and development of atomic science if mankind is to benefit and our national security is to be assured.

The Atomic Age must not be permitted to be the age of destruction when it is possible through the use of American ingenuity and know-how to harness and use a force that can become man's greatest boon.

A Good System

One way of judging what the future may bring is to look at the record of the past... The story of American achievement under the individual enterprise system is clear and undisputed.

The enterprise system has given the individual freedom and opportunity to use his private property in the competitive struggle for profit. The result has been a huge continuing growth in the number of business firms, and in the number of productive jobs. Our living standards have risen over the years to the point where they are the envy of the world.

The future of New England and America can be even more prosperous and satisfying than its past. We can have a peacetime prosperity of productive jobs and greatly increased living standards accompanied by that freedom and opportunity for the individual which we cherish.

But there are two major threats to the promise of a peacetime prosperity. One continuing threat is a world-wide war. The other threat to peacetime prosperity for America is the danger that the trend in America toward socialistic reliance on Big Government will destroy the fundamentals of the individual enterprise system which has given us so much in the past.

Emergency has for years been the explanation of mounting government costs. When families encounter an emergency—sickness or destruction of property by fire or flood, for example—the problem is met by eliminating some other expenditures by cutting the budget.

Government must do the same thing if the economy of the nation is to be maintained, taxes reduced on schedule and the budget balanced.

Community Death Traps

Now is the time that youngsters begin a long season of play outdoors. Will your children be safe from injury while they are out of your sight, or will they be headed for tragedy?

The Institute for Safer Living warns that there are 10 common hazards to be found in nearly every community in the country. These hazards are responsible for hundreds of tragic child deaths each year.

The most serious community child hazards listed by the Institute are as follows:

- (1) Water filled holes, pits and ditches; also unprotected natural streams.
- (2) Old ice boxes and refrigerators.
- (3) Steep cuts and banks, particularly sand banks.
- (4) Community junk heaps.
- (5) Junked autos and unused machinery.
- (6) Accessible electric wires.
- (7) Unsafe outside stairways and ladders left standing against buildings.
- (8) Abandoned sheds and buildings.
- (9) Unguarded construction projects
- (10) Unprotected chemicals and building materials.

Controlling or getting rid of these 10 leading community trouble makers should be the objective of every parent with young children.

Youngsters love to explore and have a little sense of danger. Warning them about unsafe places to play is not enough, the Institute points out.

The first step for parents is to list all such danger sources in the vicinity of their homes then decide what can be done about them.

If any are found on your property, you should correct them yourself without delay. Where the hazards are located on another's property, parents should not hesitate to seek the owner's cooperation. Should the owner refuse to grant this cooperation the dangers should be pointed out to the police or other town authorities.

Chances are your efforts in crusading for a safer community will not go unrewarded. Others will join you once they realize the importance of eliminating local child death traps.

Political Overtones

This is actually the first time there ever has been any Democratic competition for the privilege of contesting with Mr. Saltonstall in a Senatorial race, and it apparently has taken the Democrats 12 years to offer a real challenge against him.

In the interests of accuracy, it may be reported that the Democratic candidates who "stood" against Senator Saltonstall in 1944 and 1948 were strictly pushovers, and if Mr. Saltonstall had picked his own opponents they probably would have put up better fights.

However, it may also be observed that after Saltonstall had successfully defeated James M. Curley, Paul A. Dever and Roger Lowell Putnam for the Governorship in 1938, 1940 and 1942, respectively, there was no rush of Democratic aspirants to be the next victim.

But what we started out to say was that Congressman Philbin and State Treasurer Furcolo are working up and down the State, addressing groups, buttonholing delegates and lining up votes for the Democratic State convention which opens in Worcester three weeks from tomorrow. It is an extremely interesting contest.

How it will end may well depend on whether the two men battle it out entirely on their own, or if other forces intervene to turn the tide.

Former Governor Dever is expected to remain neutral at the coming convention. So far he has given no intimation of doing otherwise. But if he should throw his support and influence behind anyone, it probably would be Furcolo.

Furcolo gave up his seat in Congress at Dever's request in 1952 and accepted an appointment as State Treasurer, not because it was a more attractive post but because it loomed as a better stepping stone to higher office.

Now the likeable Furcolo is seeking the promotion that he anticipated, when he resigned from Congress a little less than two years ago, and there is a good deal of speculation as to whether he will get a helping hand from Dever.

There has been a quiet movement on the part of Furcolo's supporters to place the Senate contest at the top of the convention list, the strategy being to make it possible for the Treasurer to bid for some other office, if he should fail in his first objective.

It presumably doesn't make any difference to Philbin whether his fight comes first or last, but some of the other candidates, particularly those in the Attorney General field, are not anxious to take on Furcolo as an adversary, and they will undertake to have the Senate endorsement the last order of business.

This conflict, like the battle between Executive Councillor Patrick J. McDonough of Dorchester and Democratic House Leader Robert F. Murphy of Malden for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, will see steadily mounting activity during the next three weeks.

Among the State officials appointed by Governor Herter who have done an extremely competent and workmanlike job during the 15 months he has been in office is Chairman Daniel Tyler, Jr., of the State Housing Board.

Tyler is the rare individual in politics who had to be persuaded to give up an unpaid job with an abundant quantity of headaches to accept a salaried post, and one gathers at times that he's not completely convinced yet that he acted wisely in doing so.

The former chairman of the Republican State Committee, who steered the G.O.P. through its successful 1952 campaign, Tyler stepped out of that position to become the head of the State Housing Board and then became so enmeshed in housing problems that he lost a contest for another unpaid office, that of Selectman.

Whatever regrets Tyler may have, it is unlikely that Governor Herter has any over appointing him, for the Brookline man has cut the operating expenses of the State housing office approximately in half, and by his careful administration of the veterans' housing program has saved the State somewhere between $200,000 and $300,000.

It's probably conservative to estimate that Tyler altogether has saved the people of Massachusetts at least $500,000, a rather impressive achievement.

There's a golden and gleaming opportunity for some Republican who would like to become a candidate on the G.O.P. State ticket in Massachusetts this year. The only drawback is that the prospects of winning election will not be good. In fact, they will be very dim, indeed.

So far there has been no rush of candidates for the Republican nomination for State Auditor, and there is no indication that there will be any. That's one slot on the G.O.P. slate which it would not be at all difficult to obtain.

The explanation is that the person who fills it will be called upon to face State Auditor Thomas J. Buckley, and Mr. Buckley has shown a great ability to ride out the political storms, survive the Republican sweeps and win reelection to his office while other Democrats tumble down to defeat.

In a way it's a strange thing that no thought is given to Buckley as a potential candidate for Governor because he has demonstrated his vote-getting ability time after time. Perhaps he might not be a potent contender for any other office than Auditor. But there are not many volunteers for the task of attempting to dislodge him from that position.

Norumbega Scout Leaders Presented Highest Awards

Four Norumbega Council leaders received the highest award a Boy Scout council may grant to adult Scouting in local volunteer service. Frank E. Dowcett, Dr. Neil W. Swinton, James D. Blackall and Daniel Mordecai were presented the Silver Beaver award for outstanding service to boyhood. The awards were made as Norumbega Council held its annual meeting and banquet in the Normandie Room at Norumbega Park, Auburndale on Tuesday evening.

Council membership gathered both to do honor to its deserving men and to elect the volunteer officers and directors who will guide the council through the next year of Boy Scouting in Newton, Wellesley and Weston.

George M. Shannon was elected council president at the business meeting. He succeeds Dr. Neil W. Swinton in this position. Mr. Shannon has long been associated with the council, having just recently served on its Executive Board as chairman of the Training Committee. A year ago he completed a two-year term as Scout Commissioner directing the operating committees which plan and supervise Scouting activities for Cub Packs, Scout Troops and Explorer Scout Posts.

Arthur F. Vienott will continue in the second half of his two-year term as Scout Commissioner and Vice President. David C. Hoover, Daniel Mordecai and Phillip VerPlanck will be vice presidents and treasurer respectively.

Elected as members of the council's Executive Board were: 1-year terms—Felix Knauth, Edward C. Michaud, Walter T. Tower, William J. Toy and F. H. Underhill; 2-year terms—Richard E. McKown, Arthur Mennard, Warren W. Oliver, John B. Starkweather, Dr. Neil W. Swinton and Donald Wyman.

These men will serve with the above named officers and the following men whose terms carry until June 30, 1955: Joseph M. Bradley, Stanley E. Clark, Curtis B. Forbes and Dr. Frank L. Springer.

Three hundred sixty-five years of devoted service in Scouting was recognized as twenty-four men were given years-in-service awards. These were: 25-years—Frank A. Day, Amos E. Kent and Robert Bittenbender; 20-years—Erwin Beal, Frank Piazza, Percy Eden and David Oakes; 15-years—Stanley W. Merrill, Thomas Wildman, Jr., Robert A. Eden, Donald Eden, Curtis B. Forbes, John B. Starkweather, George McIntyre, Donald E. Wilbur; 10-years—George H. Larsen, William F. May, Edson Fitch, F. Brittain Kennedy, E. T. Dickinson, Dr. Neil W. Swinton, Robert Clinton, George C. Thompson and Donald Ryer.

Norumbega's new professional Scout Executive, Ralph B. Johnson, was introduced to the volunteer membership. On May 17th Mr. Johnson will assume the duties of the office recently vacated by Leigh M. Nisbet. (Editor's note: a feature story about Mr. Johnson is forthcoming.)

Following the banquet and business session the assembly reviewed the film, "The Third National Jamboree", which highlighted the great Scout event at Santa Ana, California last summer.

Already, three of the children have donated $100 each of their Bar Mitzvah money.

$211,380 Subscribed to Date For Temple Shalom Building

The Temple Shalom of West Newton has subscribed $211,380 to date for the construction of a new Temple to be erected at 175 Temple street, West Newton. This announcement was made by Bernard D. Grosman, Temple President. $147,800 of this amount has been subscribed through the Big Gifts Division and the balance through the Special Gifts Division. It is expected that construction will begin this Fall. Max Wasserman and Bertram H. Loewenberg are the Campaign General Co-Chairmen. The Building Fund total is $350,000 and the campaign will close May 20.

Temple Shalom was organized at a meeting of 150 members on April 17, 1950, at which time they voted to incorporate the new Temple. Today, just four years later, the membership has grown to 430 families. The Rabbi is Murray I. Rothman. 600 children attend the Religious and Hebrew Schools in the Temple which now occupy an old residence on the site where the new building will be built.

The next report meeting of the 100 campaign workers will be held Monday night, May 10.

Playlet Presented by Newton Visiting Nurse Association

Last Thursday evening, sixty-five Board members and guests of the Newton Visiting Nurse Association saw portrayed in lively, human terms the manifold services of the Association, one of Newton's Red Feather agencies. By means of a skit, The Welcome Visitor, written and presented by Mrs. Samuel Cutler, the Association's 3-point program came to life.

That program was described by Mrs. Matt Jones, Jr., President, in her opening speech, tracing the history of Newton's VNA, as being: care of the sick, and through health instruction, the prevention of disease and the maintaining of healthier, happier homes. Through the dramatized visit of nurse Mary Jane La Fayette to the home of a young mother, Mary Brown, and her elderly, invalid aunt, the extent of the care, encouragement and advice given not only to her patient but to the family, and through them, to friends and neighbors, was graphically depicted. Nurse La Fayette was played by herself, Mrs. Brown by Nursing Supervisor Mary Steinkrause, and Aunt Jennie by Mrs. Worthing West of the VNA Board.

Miss Katherine MacDonald, Executive Director, introduced nine of the Association's eleven of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital; Dr. Egon Kattwinkel; Mr. H. J. Pettingill, Director of the Newton Community Chest; Mrs. the Center for eight weeks getting their Senior experience in Public Health nursing.

The guests at this annual Open House were served refreshments after the program by the Hospitality Committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. Albert Boisel, Jr. Among those present were: Representative Irene K. Thresher; Alderman William Ripley; Mr. Matt Jones, Jr.; Dr. James B. Palmer, Chairman of the School Committee; Mr. William S. Brines, Director nurses, as well as two nurses from Boston College who are at Eugenia Copeland, Executive Director of the Newton Community Council; Mr. Robert Walker; Mrs. Robert Moore, Jr.; Rev. John Ogden Fisher; Miss Ruth Wheeler, Executive Director of the Waltham Visiting Nurse Association, and her assistant, Miss Bernice Joyal, formerly of the Newton staff.

The "Stranger" Everyone Knows!

The big car eases out from the boulevard and comes to a soft, silent stop. A man steps out from behind the wheel and heads for his destination.

The license plate reveals him to be a person from another state—a "stranger," so to speak.

But the golden crest on the hood of his motor car tells everyone something about him. For it is the famous crest of Cadillac—and no man is wholly a stranger, wherever he be, when he drives this distinguished car.

Any owner can tell you, out of his own personal experience, that a Cadillac is a virtual "letter of introduction" for the man who sits at its wheel.

He becomes, in a sense, the "stranger" everyone knows—a member of the most distinguished motorizing fraternity in all the world.

This priceless aspect of Cadillac ownership is but one of the many rewards which come to the owners of Cadillac cars.

In fact, it might even be considered an extra dividend—for it comes in addition to the car's great and distinguishing beauty . . . its brilliant and inspiring performance . . . its magnificent comfort and luxury . . . and its remarkable economy of operation.

As a matter of fact, it would be a formidable task to recite even a basic portion of Cadillac's cardinal virtues for 1954—for the car is superlative in every respect and has markedly advanced in every phase of appearance and operation.

Of course, it would take only an hour on the highway to understand what it all means in terms of pleasure and satisfaction—and that's why we suggest that you come in and see us—soon.

Why not make it today?

SPORTS

The rains halted last Friday to let Newton High get in a scheduled baseball game for a change, but the way things turned out it would have been a favor to the Orange and Black for the rain to keep coming. Cambridge Latin, playing at its home field, squeaked by Newton 8-7 to take over the Suburban League lead. . . . The defeat, Newton's third of the young season, dropped the Tigers beneath the .500 mark with a 2-3 record. What is more important, the loss definitely dampened Newton's chances of repeating as Suburban League champion . . . The Orange and Black must not hope that all the other Suburban League entries perform mutual massacres on each other while Newton wins the rest. As this paper goes to press, the Orange and Black is scheduled to play a "must" game against Watertown at Newton High's diamond. Newton disposed of Watertown 6-3 last month after the two teams battled to a 6-6 tie. . . . Should Newton manage to perform an astounding "about-face" and capture its remaining league games, the Tigers would end the season with a 9-3 record. Cambridge Latin would have to drop two encounters and Waltham one, for Newton to at least tie these two teams . . . However, with the league as well-balanced as it is this year, it would not be surprising to find a team with a 7-5 record on top. The 1954 Suburban flag-chase looks like a survival of the fittest among seven mediocre teams.

Cambridge Latin, behind strong Ron McGinnity's left-handed slants, started Newton's season off with a sour note by dropping the Tigers 4-2. McGinnity was again the villain last Friday, barely holding off the Orange and Black's late-inning rallies. . . . This game resembled the plight of a distance runner with a strong "kick" who lets himself fall too far behind at the start. It was Newton's second straight "almost but not quite" one-run loss.

Cambridge Latin started off with a bang in the first frame when Newton hurler Russ Halloran couldn't find the plate. With the bases loaded, catcher Tony Messuri walloped a 3-2 pitch far over the head of Tiger left-fielder Bob Davis for three big runs. . . . Newton bounded back with two runs in the second. Chuck Fogarty came through with the big blow of the inning, a two-run double to right that landed smack on the foul line. But that was the end of Newton—for a while. . . . Newton fielding and opportune hitting by the Cantabs saw the home club's one-run margin spread to six before the Tigers woke up. Three runs clattered across the plate in the seventh frame to put Newton back in the ball game. A single run in the eighth put the Orange and Black within shooting distance, and Newton seemed ready to knock McGinnity out of the park in the final frame. . . . The score was 7-6 entering the ninth. The Tigers tallied once and had the bases loaded when Ted Murphy pinch hit for Fogarty. Murphy dribbled a slow roller down to third. The fielder charged in, scooped up the ball and fired to first a half-step ahead of the flying Murphy who collided with the first-sacker and fell over the base. . . . Cambridge Latin promptly swarmed over McGinnity, congratulating the young hurler on his courageous performance. On the verge of disaster throughout the game, he always had one big pitch left for the clutch. In the last three frames, Newton left eight men stranded on the sacks.

As has been Newton's fault all year, weak hitting was the key to this loss. Unless the Tigers can come up with a few more base hits—and also collect some at the right time—Newton will be looking up at the rest of the league instead of looking down from its top position. . . . What hurts local rooters most is the way the Orange and Black has been putting itself in a hole by handing runs to the opposition. This team can win if it stops beating itself!

Newton's Little Leaguers are getting ready to swing into high gear with summer approaching. The East Little League got its season under way two weeks ago, but games have been rained out right and left. The Newton North and West Little Leagues are planning to launch their seasons—weather permitting—Saturday and Sunday afternoons respectively. . . . The Newton North League will be remembered for its outstanding showing last year in the league tournament, getting as far as the Little League "world series" in Pennsylvania. Due to the size of the league covered and the number of boys interested, it was split into two separate leagues. . . . The new West League will play its games at Lyons Playground, off Commonwealth Avenue, Auburndale, while the North entries will continue to perform at the Albemarle Little League Field.

To those who followed the teams last year, we say come on back and stay with them again. It's a great show. Those who haven't seen a Little League game don't know what they are missing.

Lose Abatement Decisions

The State Appellate Tax Board, in two decisions against the city of Newton, granted a total of $43,117 in abatements of three year's taxes, it has been announced. The Brookline-Newton Realty Co., owner of Chestnut Hill Shopping Center was granted an abatement of 15 percent by the Appellate Board while the company requested an abatement of 50 percent. The second appeal was by the Commonwealth Country Club, which objected to an increase of $68,000 in the assessment imposed in 1949. The Appellate Board granted a reduction of $53,700 for the years of 1949, 1950 and 1951. The reduction includes a decrease of $20,000 in the valuation of the club house. Appeals are also pending for 1952 and 1953. In both cases, Assistant City Solicitor George Elbaum has filed further requests for finding of fact, which the Board will act upon before the decree is final.

Mason, Rice Value Survey

A professional survey of the value of the Mason and Rice school properties in Newton Centre is expected within two weeks, Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr., has reported. The survey is being made by Ellis Gates of 102 Windsor road, Waban, whose real estate office is at 45 Bromfield street, Boston. The Board of Aldermen appropriated $600 for the cost of this survey, which it is hoped will enable city officials to determine the value of the property for possible sale in order to clear the way for construction of replacements for the schools.

Friends, Guests Entertained At Tea at Stone Institute

The residents of the Stone Institute and Newton Home for Aged People entertained friends and guests at an afternoon tea last week at their home, which is the former Pettie estate in Newton Upper Falls. The women proudly displayed afghans, children's dresses, knitted articles, mittens and other items which they have been making for the Peabody Home for Crippled Children.

Each resident had invited two guests and her minister, who had visited her during the past few months. Other guests included President and Mrs. Franklin K. Hoyt; Mrs. Lillian M. Grove, former matron, and Mrs. Helen C. Stevens, present matron; and several directors of the home. Mrs. Leon B. Farley was in charge of arrangements for the tea. Flowers were given for the occasion by Miss Mabel L. Riley and Mrs. Frank A. Day, Jr.

Several meetings and teas have been held during the year under the supervision of Mrs. William T. Glidden, Jr. and Mrs. Stanley M. Bolster to make the items for the Peabody Home and to plan for the annual tea for friends of the residents. Enthusiasm for work on their various projects will continue during the summer and winter. The only limitation on their work is for funds to buy materials for their busy hands to produce the useful articles for the Crippled Children at the Peabody Home.

pumps, like automobiles and other mechanical devices, can be worn or simply get out of adjustment. Normally, neither the merchant nor the buying public is aware of this occurrence until a weights and measures official, through his regular inspection, makes the discovery.

"Some talks to be heard at the Conference will deal with new devices such as electronic meters and electro-mechanical scales," Mr. Bowen says. "Other discussions will propose solutions to such perplexing weights and measures problems as package checkweighing, testing the accuracy of milk-carton-filling machines, obtaining and presenting evidence, and metering liquefied petroleum gases (L.P.G.)."

These and many other items, general and technical, in the weights and measures field will be presented and discussed during the five-day meeting of the 39th National Conference on Weights and Measures.

WILLIAM F. KEELER of Waban, vice-president of The First National Bank of Boston, has been elected a trustee for life of Tufts College.

Spotlight on Weeks

An important part of a school is its spirit, and the "supply line" for school spirit is the cheerleading squad. The future cheerleaders have been selected already. They are Marsha Breitke, Charlotte Marren, Susan Duchin, Claudette Stostillo, Marion Young, Grace Broad, Pat Ransom, Marjorie Jacobs, Carol Shulman, and Ellen Kahn. We wish to extend our congratulations to these girls.

The show consisted of many old favorites in the field of talent and several newcomers to the Weeks stage.

The Band Assembly was held on May 5. Between halves of the show, Mr. Parker, famous lecturer (and band leader) gave a speech on "How to Ask a Girl For a Date."

F. W. Argue, who resides at 48 Davis avenue, West Newton, has been named engineering manager of Stone & Webster Engineering Corporation with headquarters in Boston.

Mr. Argue, who will be in charge of engineering and design activities of Stone & Webster, joined the company in 1941. He has participated in engineering society technical affairs, particularly in the field of power generation. He was named assistant engineering manager in November, 1952.

W. F. Ryan, vice president, has been named senior consulting engineer of the corporation and placed in charge of its engineering report and appraisal activities.

Newton Reaches 36% of Easter Seal Sale Goal

Newton has now raised $7341, which is 86 per cent of its Easter Seal campaign goal, according to an announcement this week by Miss Ruth Burns, assistant treasurer of the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company and area treasurer for the annual fund drive.

The state-wide total, S. Bruce Black, state campaign chairman, declared, has reached $243,825. This is an all-time high for this date in the 10-year history of the Bay State Society for the Crippled and the Handicapped. He expects late contributions to bring the final total to approximately $260,000.

"Although this is far behind the $320,000 goal needed by the Bay State Society to provide rehabilitation services to physically handicapped children and adults throughout the state," the chairman pointed out, "it is encouraging to see Massachusetts' residents respond more generously than ever before to help their disabled neighbors."

Mr. Black, who is president of Liberty Mutual Insurance Company of Boston and a pioneer in industrial rehabilitation, said that this year's campaign total showed an increase of seven per cent over the amount raised in 1953.

"I cannot emphasize too strongly the appreciation of the hundreds of crippled children and adults to whom the support of the 1954 Easter Seal campaign means an opportunity to lead happy, useful lives," he continued. "Special recognition and praise also are due the volunteers throughout the state who so conscientiously gave their time and efforts to the drive."

Rep. Heaney Host To Newton Group At State House

The group listened to a discussion of a series of bills before the House of Representatives, visited the Senate and viewed an industrial exhibit of New England industries on display in the State House. Each guest was presented with a brochure, "Milestones on the Road to Freedom," which describes the five murals over the Speaker's rostrum.

The visitors included Mrs. John W. Cavannaugh, Mrs. Roger F. Curry, Mrs. E. A. Dusossois, Mrs. Myles L. Lawson Jr., Mrs. Walter McNally and Mrs. Sydney Nevins.

1050 'Senior Citizens' Placed By New Employment Office

More than 1050 job seekers in the upper-age groups found work through the Newton Employment Office last year, according to Manager John Kennealy.

The figures were released by Mr. Kennealy in announcing that his agency was cooperating in "Senior Citizens' Week" which was proclaimed by Governor Herter last week.

The purpose of "Senior Citizens' Week" is to focus the attention of older workers on services which are available to them in their own community. One of these is a special employment service for job seekers in the upper-age groups.

One of the most important steps in the special program for helping so-called Senior Citizens is a year-round educational campaign among employers "selling" the older worker on the basis of his valuable skills.

Mr. Kennealy pointed out that the experience of his office is that a workman's age rarely affects his skill and has very little to do with his performance on most jobs. "On the other hand, we do know," he said, "that older workers have broader experience, more mature judgment, more regular habits and less absenteeism than younger workers."

Finding a job isn't always the sole problem of the older worker. Many who have had prolonged unemployment lose confidence, or feel that their skills have diminished. The Employment Office gives special counseling to such job seekers and proficiency tests if necessary. The principal aim is a happy readjustment to a job.

"Our agency is doing particularly good work in helping older workers to find jobs," Mr. Kennealy said, "but it is not enough. Last year we found some 1050 jobs for those in the age groups above 45, yet this was only a small fraction of all jobs filled through our offices. At the same time more than 50% of those seeking work are in the older working groups.

The Division's special program for helping the older man or woman is only three years old," the manager said, "but in that period our state offices have helped more than 100,000 workers find jobs in private industry. Each year since the program started, the number of placements has grown," he said.

The experience of the local employment branch shows that service industries are currently offering the greatest number of jobs to those in the higher age brackets. These include hotels, garages and restaurants. Unfortunately many of these workers are not being used at their highest skills. This is a far cry from the war when industry was scraping the barrel for experienced workmen in industrial employment.

During the war and post-war years employers quickly hired older workers because of their experience and then used them

Should We Censor Children's Comics?

Janet Gleason, Wellesley, Newtonville secretary. "I think they should be. Comic book manufacturer says he has gone too far, and if they do not improve the books themselves, we must do it by law. The books are no longer a 'comic,' and the horror ones are especially bad. Some of the funny ones are all right, but the crime and horror books are not a good influence on youngsters. I'm not against all of them, only those which tend to have a bad effect on children."

Max Paddock, 311 Walnut street, Newtonville, manager of Mandell's. "I would not like to see comic book censored, because once you start controlling one kind of printed material, other kinds may also be censored. Freedom of the press is a wonderful thing, but in my opinion this is being abused by the makers of comics based on crime, horror and sex. Today's nightmarish comic books are a far cry from the old ones that managed to combine humor and good training to everyone's advantage. If comic manufacturers can't clean up their own books, however, they may force us to do it for them."

Mary F. O'Brien, Watertown, housewife. "Only as last resort. I would prefer to see the censorship exercised on a local basis. But if this fails, then I am for laws with teeth in them. I think the time has come for citizens to take definite steps to protect the mental health of their children. We have laws which recognize the evils of narcotics, but a far larger number of our children come into contact with these foul books than ever meet a dope peddler."

Frank Todino, 246 Walnut street, Newtonville, sales engineer. "Regulatory measures appear to be necessary in the publication of comic books. The few that I have seen are not intended to be comical. They feature horror and adventure stories with a liberal smattering of sex. They no doubt make quite an impression on the sub-teens who are their main purchasers."

Church Council To Hear Address By Rev. Gardner Day

Day, pastor of Christ Church, Cambridge, and a leading figure in the ecumenical movement, will be the honored guest and speaker at the annual dinner meeting of the Newton Council of Churches Monday at 6:30 p.m. in Second Congregational Church, West Newton. ton. Arthur S. Dewing spoke briefly on "The Significance of Articles of Historical Importance", pointing out that patient research is constantly throwing light on the reasons behind men's behaviour. Through the Jackson Homestead, much can be learned of early Newton history which will Democrats Concede Gov. Herter Is Very Strong . . . Little Chance Seen at Present of Defeating Him . . .

A great many Democratic politicians privately concede that if an election were being held now, they would have little, if any, chance of defeating Governor Christian A. Herter.

They admit, too, that they don't know what they would use for campaign ammunition against Mr. Herter, if they were suddenly confronted with the necessity of making a fight against him.

Proof that even the shrewdest Democratic politicos recognize that there isn't much in Herter's record they can criticize, may be found in the fact that most of the Democrats speak hopefully of the development of a nation-wide trend in discussing their party's prospects in next autumn's election in Massachusetts.

When pinned down as to precisely what they mean, they explain that a serious economic recession or U.S. intervention in Indo-China might cause a wave of public feeling against the Eisenhower administration, or that an open fight between the President and Senator McCarthy might seriously harm the G.O.P.

nominations and twenty-six churches cooperate in common tasks. It is the central organization through which these separate bodies are united in undertakings that can be carried out better together than separately, such as the Chaplancies, the United Church Canvass, the Church Vacation School, the Church School Teacher Training Courses, and other interdenominational projects. The Newton YMCA is also a member of the organization. The governing body is composed of 180 delegated representatives who meet twice a year. In the interim, an executive committee of 15 members meets for the planning of the work of the Council.

The annual meeting is open to the public. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Margaret Hale at the office of Second Church (BI 4-2890).

as pleasant to work in as any of the more expensive permanent classrooms. In the event that a population shift makes this unit no longer necessary while one is needed at another school, it can be removed to another location at only slight additional expense.

Many other cities and towns are watching this project with interest, as it appears that the "demountables" may prove the answer to school building problems.

Quiet Meeting

The alderman's meeting was exceptionally quiet, with almost no debate or discussion of the docket. One of the few items discussed regarded the board's rules on reconsideration of matters it had already acted upon.

Although four aldermen had filed with the city clerk their intention to seek reconsideration of items rejected two weeks ago by the board, only two of the items will be reconsidered. William M. Powers, alderman from Ward 7, asked the board to vote again on a petition by the Newton Taxpayers' Association to amend the duties of the board of aldermen regarding planning of capital improvements, the annual budget and similar matters.

Claiming that no discussion of the petition took place by the aldermen due to "the lateness of the hour" at the May 3 meeting, Alderman Powers said he agreed in principle with the proposed amendment to the ordinances. He stated the city should have "a long-range planning program."

Also citing the lateness of the hour when the vote was taken without debate, Alderman William P. Ripley moved reconsideration of the board's refusal to allow Saul E. Moffie to subdivide three existing lots into four lots on Nancy road, Reservoir avenue and Chestnut Hill terrace, Chestnut Hill.

Ward 1 Alderman Leo M. Cannon decided not to ask reconsideration of an adverse vote on a land offer by Loreto Tocci of $7000 for approximately 260,000 square feet of land at the end of Estabrook road, Newtonville.

Mr. Cannon explained that two other offers for the land, both greater than the Tocci offer, have been received by the city since the May 3 vote. Therefore, he stated, the sale would be thrashed out in the finance committee, and there was no need to again consider the $7000 offer.

The fourth "notice of intention to move reconsideration" had been filed by Winfield C. Anderson, alderman at large from Ward 7, but he was not present at Monday's meeting.

Alderman William R. Mattson pointed out that Mr. Anderson, even if he was present, could not legally ask reconsideration since he had not voted on the matter the first time it came before the board and only someone voting on the prevailing side may ask it.

Incinerator Repairs

The board appropriated $6000 to hire Prof Rolf Eliassen of M.I.T. to assist in the planning and supervising of a $225,000 modernization program at the City Incinerator in Newton Highlands. A number of improvements, which would enable the incinerator to double its capacity and extend its useful life between 15 and 20 years, was outlined by Prof. Eliassen last month in a report to Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr.

The money for the improvements had not yet been appropriated. A request by the public buildings commission for the $225,000 has been pending before the finance committee since the first part of the year. It is anticipated that the funds will come from the city's surplus instead of from tax receipts, so as not to adversely affect the tax rate.

Reappointments approved unanimously were: Dr. Sterling Loveland of 51 Claremont street, Newton, and Mrs. Helen F. Walker of 20 Plymouth road, Newton Highlands, as members of the board of trustees of the Jackson Homestead for 3-year terms; and Harold A. Wooster of 32 Maple avenue, Newton, and F. Brittain Kennedy of 1 Gammons road, Waban, as members of the board of trustees for three years of the Read Fund and the Elliot Memorial Fund.

Also passed without opposition were a series of amendments to city ordinances, sought by Sealer of Weights and Measures J. Ellis Bowen, regulating taxi meters in Newton.

In requesting the legislation, Mr. Bowen pointed out that there were no provisions for meters at present in the city's books, making it impossible for him to seal the meters as required by law. The ordinances passed defined the uses of the meters and set a maximum fee to be charged both for waiting and for actual distance covered.

"Waiting time" fees shall be charged at the rate of 10 cents for each three minutes, but not more than $2 per hour. However, "no charge shall be made for time lost through inefficiency of the vehicle or its driver or for time between premature arrival in response to a call and the hour for which the vehicle was ordered, or for delays incidental to traffic."

The maximum charge set was 50 cents for three-fourths of a mile or less, with not more than 25 cents for each additional half-mile, including 100 pounds of baggage.

The ordinances also require posting on the meter of the rates and name of the owner, and the face of the meter "shall be continuously and clearly visible to the passengers by suitable illumination" after sundown.

departments and Past Commanders of the Veteran Organizations under the command of Edmund T. Dungan, Agent of the Veteran Services Dept. also PC of Newton Post No. 48 AL.

Also on the Staff will be the National Lancers, a mounted unit, under the command of Lieut. Dino DiCarlo.

Making its first appearance in this parade will be the new Veterans' Honor Guard, commanded by Joseph Greco. This unit is formed for the purpose of officiating at veteran burials in the future as a firing squad and color guard.

The first division will be comprised of contingents of the various branches of the Armed Forces, also the National Guard and Boston College ROTC Drill Team.

The second division will be assigned to the Veteran Organizations and their Auxiliaries, while the third division will be made up of various civilian Drill Teams, the Newton Boys' Club, religious societies and the Boy Scouts of America.

The fourth division, an added division for this year's parade, will contain floats and cars representing veteran, fraternal, civic and religious organizations.

Acting as Marshals in the four divisions will be Henry R. Lever, 1st division; Francis D. Foley, 2nd division; Mrs. Mabel McVean, 3rd division; and Lawrence Piselli, 4th division. Each Marshal will be accompanied with two Aides.

Six bands will be in the line of march from the Army, Navy, Newton High School and three Junior High Schools.

The new War Memorial, erected on the site of the former Honor Roll at Commonwealth avenue near City Hall, will be dedicated when the parade reaches this point.

This dedication will be in charge of Wm. H. Halliday and the dedication program will be published at a later date when completed.

The usual two ceremonies will be held in the Newton Cemetery when the parade will proceed around the GAR Memorial and later the Soldiers' Lot.

Principal speaker at the GAR ceremony will be Senator Leverett Saltonstall with Chairman Maloney acting as master of ceremonies.

Wreaths will be placed by Mayor Whitmore for the City and by Commanders of the veteran organizations and Presidents of their auxiliaries.

At the Soldiers' Lot wreaths will be placed by the City, Gold Star Mothers, Newton Veterans' Council and K Co., 101st Inf., MNG with Capt. Wm. J. Cheverie Commanding.

At the GAR ceremony, the Lincoln's Gettysburg address will be recited by Robert Tenant, PC of the Burns-Kerr Post AL, prayers by the Rev. John L. Johnson, Pastor of Corpus Christi Church, Auburndale and Rev. Wilbur J. Kingwill, Rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, Newtonville.

Following these ceremonies, the parade will pass in review at City Hall to be inspected by the Staff, after which the line of march will disband on Homer street at Commonwealth avenue.

On Friday evening, May 28 at 8:15 p.m., all veterans, their families and friends are invited to attend special Memorial Services to be held at Temple Shalom, 175 Temple street, West Newton, where Rabbi Murray I. Rothman, a former Chaplain in the Marine Corps, will officiate.

Arrangements for this ceremony are in charge of Samuel Hill, PC of Newton Post No. 211 JWV and Mayor Howard

Whitmore Jr. will attend. Edmund T. Dungan, Agent of the Veteran Services Dept., reports that more than 1250 graves of Newton deceased veterans will be decorated during the last two days preceding Memorial Day.

These graves are situated in many cemeteries in and around Newton, various cemeteries and sections assigned to the various veterans organizations.

Peter A. Best is Chairman of this committee and will notify the organizations when to begin decorating these graves.

the high school were born in the late 1930's, when the birth rate was low, and when the population of our city was less than 70,000."

Continuing Dr. Gores stated:

"To illustrate the magnitude of the numbers of children passing through our schools in the next decade, consider the fact that for the past three years and for at least the next four years, the number of children entering kindergarten in any year is twice as great as the number being graduated from the high school.

"Although all grades of the schools have been gradually increasing, the great wave of children is now up to the 7th grade. Each year there have been predictions of a diminishing building boom, but thus far the rate of new residential construction has remained firm. In fact, the first quarter of 1954, has exceeded the first quarter of the last two years."

Mr. Kenneth W. Newcomb, Lay Leader of the church, made the presentation of a gift of money and a television set. A gift was presented Dr. Taylor from ninety Masons of St. John's Methodist Church in Watertown, one of his former parishes.

"Since the close of World War II, and the resumption of residential housing construction, the city has averaged nearly 400 new houses each year. While the children from new homes constitute an important factor of growth, additional children come also from older houses which have been vacated by families whose children have grown up, and are now occupied by young families. Each year there have been predictions of a diminishing building boom, but thus far the rate of new residential construction has remained firm. In fact, the first quarter of 1954, has exceeded the first quarter of the last two years."

Dr. Taylor is a 33rd degree Mason and at present is Orator of the Massachusetts Consistory.

Political Overtones

A very significant fact is that they mention no developments over which Governor Herter would have any control, in their discussions of possible happenings which might turn the political tide against him. It is rather obvious that they have just about given up hope that Mr. Herter will make any major mistakes on which they could seize.

That is about the greatest tribute a partisan Democrat could pay to a Republican Governor.

It is a fact that a groundswell of public sentiment, rolling in like a fog, can mean defeat for any office-holder. It doesn't happen very often, but it can happen.

The late Maurice J. Tobin was swept out of the Governor's office in 1946 by the votes of dissatisfied women who couldn't get butter or meat or nylon stockings. Tobin was in no way responsible for the shortages, but they cost him the last election in which he was a candidate.

It would be the height of irony, if Governor Herter were struck by a wave of unrest stemming from a recession or a war in Indo-China, but it's something like that on which his Democratic adversaries are basing their hopes of unseating him.

What this adds up to is the fact that Mr. Herter has been an excellent Governor and that he will stand for re-election on an impressive record of achievements. Even the most partisan Democrats will agree that he has been an honest Governor and a fair Governor. Objective observers, of course, go far beyond that in their appraisals.

As a result of Harter's direction of the State government during the past 16 months, the Republican State convention which will assemble in Worcester three weekends from now will be vastly different from the one that met in June, 1952, when they were preparing to make a valiant fight against seemingly hopeless odds.

The man who won so spectacular a victory over Paul A. Dever in the 1952 election now has a 16-months record in which even his Democratic critics can find few flaws. When the Democrats are looking to a battle between President Eisenhower and Senator McCarthy, a development in Indo-China or a drop in the economic barometer to aid their cause, it meets that Mr. Herter is in pretty good political shape.

A generation from now, students of history will be examining the principles involved in the conflict between President Eisenhower and members of the United States Senate over the question of whether the happenings at a meeting of top Presidential advisers should be made known.

K. of C. Father-Son Breakfast To Hear Supt. of Reformatory

Edward S. Grennan, superintendent of the Massachusetts Reformatory at Concord, will be the principal speaker at the annual Father and Son Communion Breakfast to be held next Sunday morning by Newton Council, Knights of Columbus, at the Newton Catholic Club in West Newton.

A graduate of Georgetown University and a present District Deputy in the Knights of Columbus, Mr. Grennan has been with the Department of Correction of the Commonwealth for over 20 years. He started as a House Officer at the Norfolk State Prison Colony. During his period of service there, he held posts in various departments and became deputy superintendent of that institution in 1946. In 1952, he was promoted to his present position.

He will discuss the work of rehabilitation which is being done in correctional institutions within the state. His talk will be illustrated by a film.

The members of the Council will assemble at 8 a.m. in Lincoln Park, which is opposite the fire station on Washington street, West Newton. From event,

This is but one more clash in the age-old strife between the executive and legislative branches of the government, and in a sense it overshadows the issues involved in the controversy between Senator McCarthy and Pentagon officials.

It seems highly improbable that the President will back down to the extent of rescinding or even modifying his order, which dropped a curtain of secrecy around the Jan. 21 meeting. To do so would mean a loss of face and prestige for him.

If that results in the termination of the hearings, it will mean that a great many questions will remain unanswered. Most of them probably will go unanswered no matter how long the proceedings are continued because this is the kind of controversy on which any clearcut judgment is unlikely.

Whether the hearings are resumed, if President Eisenhower declines to withdraw or amend his directive, will for all practical purposes rest with McCarthy.

If the President stands his ground and McCarthy insists that the hearings be abandoned unless the principles to the Jan. 21 meeting are summoned, then the proceedings are finished.

One thing that now seems entirely clear is that Secretary of the Army Stevens was advised by two of the men closest to President Eisenhower, Presidential Advisor Sherman Adams and U.N. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., to declare war on McCarthy. Whether they acted with Ike's knowledge is another matter.

From the standpoint of many Republicans, a completely new complexion was given to the McCarthy-Pentagon row, when Army Counsel John Adams brought into the proceedings the names of "Deputy President" Adams, Ambassador Lodge and Attorney General Brownell, and in doing so he played politically into the hands of McCarthy.

Those three names brought back vivid memories of the fateful fight waged a little less than two years ago between the two wings of the Republican party for the G.O.P. Presidential nomination.

The men who aroused the most bitter feelings on the part of supporters of the late Senator Robert A. Taft were Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., Sherman Adams and Governor Dewey of New York. Brownell was Dewey's lieutenant.

It was Adams in the New Hampshire Presidential primary who first raised the cry that Taft couldn't win if he were nominated, and it was Lodge who hurled the charge of "steal" at Chicago.

Lodge was Ike's campaign manager up to the time he came back to Massachusetts to make his own unsuccessful fight for reelection. Adams stepped into his place in the Eisenhower lineup in the closing weeks of the Presidential contest.

McCarthy at the time was in the Taft camp.

Still another aspect to this controversy, which takes many twists and turns, is that many Democrats who don't like McCarthy feel even more strongly against Brownell for his attacks upon President Truman.

If the hearings are terminated, it almost certainly will mean an open break between McCarthy and the White House, an event likely to have important political repercussions.

While most persons are weighing the effects of a discontinuance of the hearings from McCarthy's standpoint, it might be pointed out that such a development would not be particularly favorable from the Army's standpoint.

The hearings have lessened the prestige of Secretary Stevens, who obviously has been a man floundering beyond his depth, and that of Army Counsel Adams as well. But it appears that they may have been merely acting as agents for Lodge, Brownell and Sherman Adams in operation to cut down McCarthy.

The main casualty on the McCarthy side probably will be Roy Cohn and his permanent pout. It will be very interesting to see whether McCarthy insists on going on the witness stand or takes advantage of any opportunity to decline to do so. Even if the President is unwilling to enforce his directive, there is nothing to prevent McCarthy from testifying—unless he chooses to leave the controversy suspended in midair.

Three Newtonites Named Fessenden School Officers

Three Newton boys were elected to offices in the spring term color and form elections at the Fessenden School, West Newton.

Francis O'Brien, son of Dr. and Mrs. Francis R. O'Brien of 1940 Commonwealth Avenue, Auburndale, was elected secretary of the Third Form. This is Francis' second year at Fessenden.

Peter C. Kenney, son of Dr. and Mrs. Francis R. Kenney of 15 Lockwood Road, West Newton, was elected to the committee, the student-governing body. Peter has taken an active part in athletics, playing on the senior football and hockey teams and on the school tennis team. He also had a part in the recent production of "Rip Van Winkle," a musical adaptation of Washington Irving's well-known story.

Michael H. Sherman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Isidore Sherman of 1311 Commonwealth Avenue, West Newton, was elected secretary of the Grays, one of the two groups of boys, which compete throughout the year for the cup awarded annually to the group winning the most points. His sports include the senior soccer and football teams, the track team, the basketball team, of which he was co-captain, and the senior baseball team, of which he is captain. This is Michael's third year at Fessenden. He is a member of the Sixth Form.

It seems highly improbable that the President will back down to the extent of rescinding or even modifying his order, which dropped a curtain of secrecy around the Jan. 21 meeting. To do so would mean a loss of face and prestige for him.

Support for Home Rule Is Urged

Senator Richard H. Lee was congratulated yesterday by Executive Director Lorenz F. Mather, Jr., of the Newton Taxpayers' Association for his vote in favor of a legislative rules change giving more weight to self-restraint by the legislature will help to increase local governmental responsibility.

"We are very glad to report that Senator Lee's view of this important phase of government coincided with ours," Mr. Mather said.

"Now the matter comes before the House of Representatives," continued Mather, "and it is our hope that the Newton representatives will agree with the Senator that more voice should be given local governments in the conduct of their local affairs and that more self-restraint by the legislature will help to increase local governmental responsibility."

Newton Fire Dept. Aids in Pumping At Peabody Flood

At the request of Civil Defense Authorities, Chief John E. Corcoran of the Newton Fire Department dispatched the Fire Department Service Truck with Firefighters J. T. Bradley and K. S. Finnell to Peabody at 12:30 p.m. for the purpose of pumping out flooded buildings.

They proceeded to the junction of Routes 128 and 20, arriving there at 1:30 p.m. At this point they met units from Watertown, Needham, and a unit from the Newton Highway Department. The Civil Defense Organization then led the party to Peabody.

The unit from this department was set along the railroad tracks in Peabody Square and there they pumped for three quarters of an hour. They were then dispatched to the Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Company Depot at which point they pumped for approximately 7½ hours. They succeeded in bringing the water down about five feet at this point.

The unit returned to quarters at 11:15 p.m.

Lions Club Panel Tonight On Juvenile Delinquency

The Lions Club of Newton cordially invites the public to the meeting of the panel on Juvenile Delinquency to be held at the Claflin School on Lowell avenue, Newtonville, tonight (Thursday).

This panel of six experts will discuss the problem from their particular points of view and then will invite written questions from the audience to be answered by them.

Mrs. J. Lawrence Oncley, one of the panel members, states, "The home is no longer the strong unit it has been in the past. Adults frankly admit 'I don't know the right, the wrong or the how, but our educators have studied and are studying. They should know.' Our schools are expanding services and attempting to find ways and means of meeting the needs.

"However, they are not infallible; there is a definite limit to what schools, school teachers and leaders can do. Their help, instruction and guidance can only be done in a supplementary way, to the experiences derived in the home. At no time can parental love and influence be replaced. Our parents have a right to expect much from the schools. They have no right, however, to abdicate their own responsibilities. The fact remains that our young people have not had the guidance they have needed. What guidance is curricular activities including the circulation staff of the Newtonite, the Senior Play Committee and the Modern Dance Group at Newton High School.

A packed auditorium heard 70 children of the 4th, 5th and 6th grades present a musical program called "A World In Tune."

Registration of Carr Nursery School, Inc., will be accepted during the month of May. Call Mrs. Helena G. Farrell, LAsell 7-3698 or Mrs. Ruth Marinsky, DEcatur 2-1117.

Pointing out the vital role women play today as home-maker, neighbor, economic citizen, and consumer, Mrs. LeSourd urged that they use the summer months to "renew their spirits" in preparation for fall tasks.

Louis G. LeBlanc To Head Newton Bankers' Ass'n

Louis G. LeBlanc, vice-president and cashier of the Newton National Bank, was elected president of the Newton Bankers' Association at the annual meeting held last week at Brae Burne Country Club. Mr. LeBlanc succeeds Walter A. Hood, assistant treasurer of the Newton Co-operative Bank, who presided at the meeting.

Mr. Hood reported that gross assets of the nine Newton banks have increased $4,714,514 in the last year. Deposits of the member banks total $147,697,080, and mortgages held amount to $68,711,200—an increase of $4,745,565 over the previous year.

Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr. commented on the benefits accruing to Newton citizens through the recent industrial development in the Newton Industrial Center. Mayor Whitmore cited figures showing that assessed values in the area have increased 250 per cent since 1946 with resulting advantage to Newton taxpayers.

The Technicians took command in the second frame after Russ Halloran walked the first batter and gave up a double to the second. Russ nearly got out of the tight spot unscathed by fanning the next two men, but an arching drive to center field short for a base hit and Rindge had a 2-1 lead. The Technicians added an insurance tally in the third inning, again cashing in on a walk to the lead-off batter. When Halloran got into trouble again, Art DeStefano switched his first-base post with the pitcher and kept the Technicians under control the rest of the way. Newton's important offense couldn't do much after the opening inning, and the Tigers wound up with nine men left on the bases. The Orange and Black managed to get two on in one of the late innings thanks to an infield misplay, but the next batter promptly bounded an easy grounder to third for an unassisted third out. By hitting when it counted, Rindge Tech turned its five hits into three runs. In contrast, Newton picked up seven hits.

The Orange and Black seemed to have found its touch last week with a pair of wins over Watertown and Arlington. The Watertown victory, second of the season over the Arsenal Towners, was Newton's easiest of the year. For once the batters were getting their hits in the right places. It also helped when Watertown managed to foul up a few crucial plays.

Newton found it simple to reach base against weak Arlington last Friday in its 5-4 win. However, getting the runners across the plate was another matter. Thirteen Newton men were left stranded during the Tigers' eight innings at bat. Newton stayed in control of the game up to the final inning, when Arlington began to come to life. Two runs clattered across the plate and the tying run was at second when the final out was finally made. This game showed a fatal trait which has plagued the Tigers all year. Men reach base, but that seems to be the end of it. Regulars and pinch-hitters alike have come to bat with vital runs languishing on the baselines, without success. The Waltham 7-6 loss and the Cambridge Latin 8-7 defeat both ended with the tying run at third base. And in both games, the decision should have been well salted away by the time that final frame came around. But, as one sage of the diamond once aptly observed, "You can't win them all." But it sure is worth trying.

SPORTS

Newton High just about kissed goodby to all its chances of repeating as Suburban League champion for 1954 by dropping a 3-1 decision Tuesday afternoon to Rindge Tech, a weak array of players currently holding last place in the loop. Newton has been a weak-hitting team all year, and Tuesday this weakness was never more apparent. Rindge was reputed to have a porous defense, especially in the field, but the Tigers were unable to take advantage of this by hitting on the ground. The Orange and Black popped up all afternoon, giving the Technicians the easiest chances possible. Newton's loss, its fourth of the year, drops the Orange and Black well behind the leaders. Surprising Cambridge Latin is on top with only two losses, and Waltham and Watertown have both lost three times. Newton may yet catch up with Waltham if the Tigers can beat the traditional rivals, but Howie Ferguson's crew is already through with Cambridge Latin and Watertown. If a mutual massacre can be arranged among the top three teams while Newton finds enough unexpected strength to take its remaining games, then the Suburban League could end up with a four-way 8-4 tie. But that's quite a lot to expect, especially when it involves a complete about-face by the Tigers.

Tuesday's game was over in the three innings. Newton hopped out in front with its single run as lead-off man Bob Davis spiked a single to left, took second on a passed ball, was sacrificed to third and scored as Billy Hamill beat out a bouncing ball to second. That ended Newton's offense for the afternoon, and also set a season's low for ineffectiveness.

The Technicians took command in the second frame after Russ Halloran walked the first batter and gave up a double to the second. Russ nearly got out of the tight spot unscathed by fanning the next two men, but an arching drive to center field short for a base hit and Rindge had a 2-1 lead. First Unitarian Society Holds Annual Meeting

Newton was honored at the recent convention of the New England Council, Union of American Hebrew Congregations in Hartford, Conn., by having one of its citizens elected president. He is Donald Daniels of Waban, a trustee of Temple Shalom of Newton and active in many community endeavors here.

The New England Council is composed of 19 Liberal and Reform Jewish Congregations in this region. In the Greater Boston area Temples Israel, Ohabei Shalom, Sinai of Brookline and Shalom of Newton are the principal representatives. Mr. Daniels has been a leader in the Reform movement since the late 1930's when he headed the "25 Club" at Temple Ohabei Shalom in Brookline and helped organize the New England Federation of Temple Youth. In the spring of 1950, he served as chairman of the committee which organized Temple Shalom, recently noted as "the fastest growing Liberal congregation in the United States."

Other officers reelected were Miss Margaret Ball, parish clerk; Mrs. Kathryn M. Holgate, secretary and treasurer; Edward W. Whorf, assistant treasurer. Rev. John Ogden Fisher gave his fourth annual report as minister.

Robert H. Cobb, chairman of the nominating committee which included Mrs. Leonard A. Monzert and Maynard Sears, first vice-president, were named delegates to the annual May meeting of the American Unitarian Association, together with Mrs. William J. Tyler and Miss Katherine Cutler. Alternates will be Miss Ball, Mrs. Monzert, Mr. Whorf and Mr. Skinner.

The meeting also voted approval of a $25,500 budget for the next fiscal year and heard reports from parish organizations and committees.

nical ordnance material. Discharged with the rank of Major in the Reserves, he entered the employ of the Studebaker Corp. He was soon in charge of all sales and advertising for this company and in 1925 he moved to Newton and organized the Studebaker Sales Company of New England. He also organized the Pierce Arrow Sales Company of New England.

With the acquisition of the distributorship of the Willys automobile and a Packard Franchise, he became one of the largest motor car distributors in this country. His five companies reached a total of 1,000 employees.

For personal reasons in 1937 he disposed of all except one of these companies. During World War II, Mr. Sweet was again called upon to serve as assistant to the District Chief of the Boston Ordnance District.

For his work with this department, he has received many commendations from a grateful government. He has always been actively interested in civic affairs and he has given generously of his time to community projects.

Mr. Sweet is a member of the Brae Burn Country Club, the Newton Rotary Club and a Trustee of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital. He has been a member of the Society of Automotive Engineers. Also, he was one of the youngest men to have been a master of a Mason Lodge in the State of New York.

Mr. Sweet and his wife, the former Mary Barnes, live at 194 Hobart road in Crestnut Hill.

He is an ardent freshwater fisherman and has fished many of the lakes and streams of this country, but more particularly enjoys angling in England and Wales among the lochs of Scotland.

George W. Sweet Honored at 25th Anniversary of Bank

At a recent Board meeting held in the Directors' Room of the Newton National Bank's new headquarters, Mr. George W. Sweet was presented with an original oil portrait of himself by the officers and directors of the bank.

Mr. Bernard M. Keyes, A.N.A., prominent artist, created the portrait at the request of the bank officials. The gift is a tribute to Mr. Sweet for his devoted years of able leadership from the days of the Bank's origin to the present.

In the Spring of 1928, Mr. Sweet and several of Newton's leading citizens recognized the need for a National bank to serve the residents of the business community of this area. This group organized the Newton National Bank with Mr. Sweet as Vice President and Director.

On March 11, 1929 the Bank opened its doors for business in modest quarters at 384 Center street, with a capitol of $200,000 and a surplus of $100,000. Because of its able management, the Bank successfully weathered the great depression that immediately followed its opening. After the first few years of its organization, the bank began to grow rapidly. A branch was opened at 831 Beacon street, Newton Centre in 1954 in another at 287 Walnut street, Newtonville in 1947. A third branch was opened at 433 Watertown street, Nonantum during the summer of 1953.

Still growing, the "Friendly Bank for all the Newtons" has become an integral and vital part of the community.

Mr. Sweet, a native of Owego, New York, began his business career in the leather industry immediately upon his graduation from the Owego Academy.

Entering the automobile field in 1912, Mr. Sweet pioneered in this new form of motivation. In 1918 his successful career was interrupted by the outbreak of World War I. In his rank as Captain in the Ordnance Dept., he specialized in supervising contracts for hundreds of millions of dollars of highly technical ordnance material.

Discharged with the rank of Major in the Reserves, he entered the employ of the Studebaker Corp. He was soon in charge of all sales and advertising for this company and in 1925 he moved to Newton and organized the Studebaker Sales Company of New England. ## Full House at Spring Concert By Day Junior High Students

By JOHN GRISWOLD and BRUCE EGAN

After many months of preparation by both pupils and teachers, a Spring Concert called "A Night at Day" was held recently in the Day Junior High School auditorium before a packed house of students and adults.

After the Lord's Prayer, sung by Elaine Remley, the concert itself was presented in six units. The student chairman was Cynthia Shrier.

The first part or unit consisted of the compositions of five of our greatest composers. Many soloists participated playing piano, trumpet, flute and French horn. Ballet soloist was Carol Clippinger. Others were Bethel Bilezikian, Pauline Bilezikian, Barry Bograd, Marilyn Clapper, Theodore Clark, Richard Cowan, Francis Dahl, James Donovan, Nancy Durham, Sidney Faria, John Griswold, Robert Hill, George Hurley, Thomas Jones, James Levine, James Loew, Paul MacCalden, Tomas Martin, Ellen Maslow, Dennis McManus, Lynn Morrill, Benjamin Proctor, Elaine Remley, Robert Rosenblatt, Robert Russell, Mary Ann Schiavone, Clinton Shaw, and Lucas Taddeo.

Unit Two was called "Drums and Trumpets". Vocalist was Vincent Battista; drums, Benjamin Proctor, Theodore Clark, Malcolm Besson, John Schiavone; trumpets, Robert Rosenblatt, Thomas Jones, Thomas Martin, Sydney Faria, Lynn Morrill and Paul MacCalden.

The third section, named "Country Style," had selected group of glee club girls singing "Bushel and a Peck". They were Elaine Remley, Caryl Coulton, Helen Swanson, Nancy Oneley, Judith Boudreau and Marilyn Clapper. Sandra Minnis and Elizabeth Briggs also sang a duet to the Tennessee Wig-Walls done by members of the Dance Group.

The entire group included Carol Aitchison, Christine Annesse, Patricia Bartley, Jeanette Bibbo, Elizabeth Briggs, Carol Ciampa, Dorothy Civetti, Carol Clippinger, Barbara Dentino, Betty Mae Erickson, Carol Gallant, Julia Gavini, Marianne Huston, Janet Koch, Rita Leone, Elizabeth Locke, Catherine McAdams, Carol McBride, Linda Maloney, Helen McIntosh, Gloria Mason, Nancy Oneley, Frances Pellegrini, Patricia Pierce, Janet Prola, Ruth Redland, Phyllis Ricciardi, June Santillo, Susanne Simonds, Ann Silver, Marie Sullo, Rita Tadeo, Marlene Richter, Claudette Thierry, Suzanne Thierry and Susanna White.

In this unit was also an arrangement of "Skip to My Lou" sung by the combined Glee Clubs and danced by members of the Girls' Dance Group.

Unit Four was taken from the movie "Hans Christian Anderson". The story of "Thumbelina" was told by Nancy Wilbert with pictures drawn by Anne Morrison and Horst Schaft under the direction of Miss Gillam. Also was presented a dance and musical conception called "Wonderful Copenhagen".

After the intermission, the dance band played selected numbers with a solo by John McLeod of the faculty and a tap dance by Marie Sullo.

The final unit was taken from the works of Cole Porter. All dancers, members of the glee clubs and the orchestra combined to make this unit a grand finale for the evening's performance. The entire production was supervised by Alden

W. Read, In charge of orchestra and glee clubs was Vincent Jurgielewicz. Mrs. Annette Emerson instructed the dance group, and Mrs. Lorraine Holmes directed the dramatic part of the show. Miss Catherine Tobin and Miss Barbara Ammidown helped with costuming. Student aides were William Rousseau in charge of lighting and Thomas Melideo, sets and general stage work.

ing gifts necessary to top the goal were contributed by enthusiastic congregants during the evening.

President Bernard D. Grossman presented Howard Rubin, chairman of the Temple building committee, in the course of the evening. Rabbi Murray I. Rothman, spiritual leader of the temple gave warm praise to all who had participated in the inspiring campaign and observed that the congregation had now established a time schedule "For the rest of your lives" in the sense that spiritual growth and fulfillment will certainly flow from the enthusiasm shown by the congregation.

Temple Shalom, established in the Spring of 1950, has 430 families and more than 500 children in its religious school. The Temple plans to build on its attractive present site at 175 Temple street in West Newton, located between Warren Junior High School and Peirce School.

Fined $40 On 2 Counts In Newton Court

A Dedham man was fined a total of $40 on 2 counts in the District Court of Newton Tuesday by Judge John Luby. Paul Starr was brought into Court on the complaint of Newton City Sealer J. Ellis Bowen charged with short measure in the delivery of cordwood and delivering such wood without certificate or memorandum of delivery as provided by statute. He was fined $20 on both counts.

The delivery took place December 3, 1953 to Mrs. Genevieve R. Oncley of 28 Grove Hill park, Newtonville. Bowen measured the quantity at the request of the customer and found it to be 33 per cent short.

The defendant failed to appear in Court upon summons on February 11, 1954 and a warrant for his arrest was issued. Starr was picked up Monday in Walpole and transferred to the custody of Newton Police. He pleaded guilty on both counts.

perfectly positioned to service the vast industrial might" being developed nearby and in Needham, he declared. Mr. Rubenstein urged the city to see that "the service shopping area for this great industrial development" is Newton Highlands and not Needham Center.

The viewpoint of the businessmen concerned was presented by Lawrence J. Hendricken, representing the Newton Highlands Merchants Association. He pointed out that the parking area would not only aid the new business but would also attract new companies.

"A feeling of shame is now felt for the appearance of the Highlands," Mr. Hendricken said. "Many people, when entertaining outsiders, avoid the shopping area completely." He told the aldermen that Newton Highlands "must attract new customers or the area will be suffocated as a shopping center."

Flagrant Violations

Rev. John Balcom, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, cited the "congested parking situation" on Columbus street, which he termed "one of the most flagrant parking violation areas as far as the red lines concerned."

Without off-street parking, however, more restrictions only force people to park further down the side streets," he said.

"We would like to be proud of our area," said Mrs. Frank I. Black of the Newton Highlands Woman's Club, but the merchants cannot improve their buildings unless business prospers.

She termed the empty stores "very forlorn and pathetic looking." Earlier it was pointed out that nearly one-third of the merchants had moved out, leaving 10 vacant stores on Lincoln street alone.

The difficulties of trying to rent the stores were cited by Arthur H. Tillingshast of Investment Realty Company, owner of a block of seven stores. His company has put new fronts on some of the stores and improved them inside, but, due to the lack of parking the firm "cannot rent a single square inch of it."

Also speaking in favor of the parking was Lorenz F. Muther, Jr., executive secretary of the Newton Taxpayers Association, who placed his group solidly behind the appeal. He suggested using parking meter funds to finance the off-street area, since the meters will have been completely paid for by the end of this year.

Stores "Squeezed"

The move for off-street parking was termed "an attempt to turn back the clock" by Mrs. Norman Balmuth of 26 Hartford street, Newton Highlands, one of two opposition speakers.

"The Lincoln street store area is a victim of a geographical squeeze, and there is nothing that can be placed here that consumers with a car cannot find in better selection elsewhere nearby," Mrs. Balmuth declared.

Also opposing was Mrs. J. Comer Jones of 44 Hartford street, who also stated that Newton Highlands residents could easily drive to nearby shopping areas. The city should not pay for a parking lot so near Chestnut Hill, but it would be all right if the businessmen themselves financed the project.

One "undecided" speaker was Clifford W. Dowd Jr., of 56 Columbus street, Newton Highlands, said he approved of the parking facilities provided "nobody was hurt" by land-takings.

Alderman Richard H. Lovell, chairman of the municipal parking and meters committee, asked for suggestions as to where the off-street area should be constructed, but none of the speakers advocated a definite location.

Alderman Lovell recalled that when the Newton Highlands parking problem was considered several years ago, two sites were proposed. They were the east side of Hartford street, between the stores and the new library, and the area bounded by Station avenue, Lake avenue and Walnut street behind the present bank building.

When he called for a show of hands from the nearly 100 at the special hearing, 51 registered their approval of the parking area and four opposed it.

The hearing was called after a petition signed by about 1000 persons was filed with the city clerk, asking aid for shopping center. The Chamber of Commerce "broke with tradition" in sponsoring the petitions.

Many Joys In Life

There are many joys in life — a sunset if you are a poet, a work of art if you are a connoisseur, a hard-fought game if you are an athlete —

And the simple act of walking, talking or perhaps even tying a shoelace or signing your name—if you have cerebral palsy.

More than 10,000 Massachusetts people are victims of this cruel affliction which results from brain damage at birth. Most of them are intelligent persons, chained by CP to a staggering variety of handicaps.

It is torture of the highest order for an otherwise normal child to be derided because his words are scrambled by a brain that thinks clearly but cannot transmit them correctly; for a child to spend what ought to be his happiest years struggling to walk across a room — or even sit erect — while others are playing with dolls and footballs.

It is only a relatively recent medical development that three-quarters of all CP victims can be helped. Through the United Cerebral Palsy Associations in Massachusetts and across the country, spectacular progress is being made. Youngsters who couldn't speak are talking, who couldn't lift their heads are walking, looking forward to normal, useful, happy lives.

Massachusetts is a research and service center for the battle against CP. The United Cerebral Palsy Associations maintain centers in 11 geographical areas for direct services to CP victims, and from these centers daily come heartening success stories.

The United Cerebral Palsy Associations are nearing the end of their May-long fund campaign for $425,000. The next chapter of the CP success story is not in a book — it is in your pocketbook. Mail your contribution today to United Cerebral Palsy, in care of your Postmaster.

Political Overtones

Curley now describes himself as a "tentative" candidate for Governor, which is a rather new classification. He says that he will not run for anything, if he is satisfied that the man nominated for the Governorship by the Democratic State Convention can win election next November, but that if he feels the Democratic standard-bearer cannot defeat Governor Herter, he will step in and seek the nomination himself in the September primary.

What this probably means is that Dever has persuaded Curley that he should stand aside at the Democratic Convention which opens a week from tomorrow and assume the role of benevolent elder statesman who is prepared to do what is best for his party.

This also is likely to mean that Furcolo will receive the convention's endorsement for the U. S. Senate and be tapped as the Democrat to oppose Senator Saltonstall next November, because Dever is by far the most influential Democrat in Massachusetts today and if he is putting Curley on the line for Furcolo, he undoubtedly is doing the same with many other Democratic leaders.

How Congressman Philip J. Philbin, who is also seeking the Senate endorsement, will take this development, remains to be seen. Philbin's backers some time ago indicated that their man would abide by the convention decision, if the delegates were given a free choice, but that he would seriously consider running in the September primary, if it proved to be a "bossed" convention.

Philbin, however, is expected to drop out of the Senate race and seek reelection to his present congressional seat for several reasons: 1. The Democrat nominated for the Senate is not going to have a very bright prospect of defeating Saltonstall anyway. 2. A September primary battle between Furcolo and Philbin would probably eliminate almost any Democratic hope of victory in November. 3. It would be a poor political gamble for Philbin who is virtually assured of reelection to Congress.

Mark J. Dalton of Dover, who is running for the Senate on an anti-Joe McCarthy platform, probably will be eliminated on the early balloting at Worcester.

ter, if indeed the Senate contest lasts more than one ballot. Dalton, however, may cause some excitement at the assembly, if his followers present a proposed platform plank condemning McCarthy.

The present plan is to put the Senate fight at the top of the list at Worcester and get it out of the way early so that the delegates can get down to the hot battles for Governor, Lieutenant Governor and Attorney General. Our guess is that Furcolo will land the Senate endorsement on either the first or second ballot.

There is a wide conflict among the experts as to the present status of the fight for the Democratic nomination for Governor, although many of the observers are disposed to concede Executive Councillor Patrick J. McDonough of Dorchester a slight edge over Minority House Leader Robert F. Murphy of Malden. Thomas H. Buckley of Abington, former chairman of the State Commission on Administration and Finance, is a recent entry in this contest, but Buckley's only hope of winning the endorsement seemingly rests on the rather remote prospect that Murphy and McDonough will knock themselves out in a deadlock and set the stage for a darkhorse contender.

That is not likely to happen, if the convention, as is expected, adopts a rule providing that a candidate who polls less than 50 votes on any ballot is automatically eliminated.

It is the consensus of opinion that if McDonough or Murphy does not win by the third or fourth gubernatorial ballot, neither will win at all. But the present indications are that one of the two will be nominated not later than the third ballot.

The contest between McDonough and Murphy has been an interesting one. Murphy started first, apparently learning before the other candidates that Dever would not run. He not only got a jump on McDonough but also lined up the support of many of the Democratic House members.

When McDonough did swing into the field, he immediately launched a fast, hard-driving campaign. A skilled and resourceful politician, with a striking personality, McDonough has made headway that surprised many of the observers who were disposed to minimize his chances because of his late start.

A number of prominent and influential Democrats across the State have swung up into seats in his bandwagon. Mayor Daniel M. Brunton of Springfield, the outstanding Democrat in Western Massachusetts, is managing McDonough's campaign in Western Massachusetts.

Congressman John W. McCormack is obviously behind McDonough. He hasn't said so, but his nephew, City Councillor Edward J. McCormack, Jr., is McDonough's campaign manager in Suffolk County, and William H. Burke, Jr., the former collector of port, who is very close to McCormack, is also beating the drums vigorously for McDonough.

Murphy, meanwhile, has been moving along in much quieter and less sensational fashion than McDonough, depending heavily on his Democratic colleagues who serve with him in the House of Representatives.

State Bank Commissioner Timothy J. Murphy of Quincy and former Undersecretary of Labor Michael J. Galvin are the other two contenders in the gubernatorial running, but both probably will fall by the wayside in the early competition.

Attempts have been made in recent weeks to draft either ex-Governor Dever or Mayor Hynes. Both Hynes and Dever, however, have flatly turned down all suggestions that their names be placed in nomination. Both have declared that they would decline the endorsement, if the convention should draft them.

While some efforts may be made in behalf of Dever or Hynes at Worcester, they will be quickly discouraged. Democratic leaders realize their party would be left in an extremely weak position if either Hynes or Dever were nominated and then refused to run.

In view of the pronouncements by Dever and Hynes, which left nothing whatever to speculation, any talk of drafting either of them not only is absurd but would create chaos in the Democratic party.

This also is likely to mean that Furcolo will receive the convention's endorsement for the U. S. Senate and be tapped as the Democrat to oppose Senator Saltonstall next November, because Dever is by far the most influential Democrat in Massachusetts today and if he is putting Curley on the line for Furcolo, he undoubtedly is doing the same with many other Democratic leaders.

How Congressman Philip J. Philbin, who is also seeking the Senate endorsement, will take this development, remains to be seen. Philbin's backers some time ago indicated that their man would abide by the convention decision, if the delegates were given a free choice, but that he would seriously consider running in the September primary, if it proved to be a "bossed" convention.

Philbin, however, is expected to drop out of the Senate race and seek reelection to his present congressional seat for several reasons: 1. The Democrat nominated for the Senate is not going to have a very bright prospect of defeating Saltonstall anyway. 2. A September primary battle between Furcolo and Philbin would probably eliminate almost any Democratic hope of victory in November. 3. It would be a poor political gamble for Philbin who is virtually assured of reelection to Congress.

Mark J. Dalton of Dover, who is running for the Senate on an anti-Joe McCarthy platform, probably will be eliminated on the early balloting at Worcester.

AMERICA'S REMEMBRANCE

In Lincoln's great masterpiece, the Gettysburg Address, he said: "Let us here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain."

Since these words were spoken in 1863, young Americans have gone forth to fight for our nation, its institutions, ideals and principles.

As time moves on, the day gains new significance. At first, Memorial Day was observed by beautifying the graves of soldiers of the Civil War who had gone over to "fame's eternal camping ground." Since then it has become a day of remembrance by flowers on the resting place of friends, relatives and those who made the supreme sacrifice.

It is a day of special solemnity and significance to America. We commemorate, not celebrate, its anniversary.

Did our Unknown Soldier die in vain? Unknown Soldier — hero of humanity. Unknown no more—but known to all lovers of liberty.

He is resting beneath the majestic oaks in Arlington Cemetery. He is interred among the nation's great. He is a symbol of priceless sacrifice. He is the hero of faith. He is the son of freedom. He is the spirit of our national heritage. A sculptor carved on the white marble tomb silhouetted above the trees this inscription:

Here Rests In Honored Glory An American Soldier, Known But To God."

A sentry guards him day and night. He may have known nothing of doctrine, but he was steadfast in his devotion to Old Glory. He may have known nothing of words, but he proved their nobility with deeds.

Unknown Soldier—may your tomb be an imperishable reminder that out of your sacrifice shall come a consecrated compact that will rid the world of the most fearful foe—the continuous scourge of war.

May we, your fellow Americans, be worthy of your immortal sacrifice.

Taxpayer Ass'n May Print List Of Assessments

The Newton Taxpayers' Association is considering publishing Newton assessments as part of its campaign to equalize valuations on homes.

After receiving approval from the members of the Association, the directors have introduced an ordinance calling for publication of the assessed real estate values by the city every five years. "So far," the Association bulletin notes, "there is little enthusiasm in official circles for such a publication."

The directors stated that they "are definitely of the opinion than an equalization of valuations in Newton is a real necessity. This view can be phrased as 'a fair tax bill for every taxpayer.'

They praised the Newton Board of Assessors for "working manfully at the problem," but pointed out that "the sheer volume of the many transactions of recent years, coming on top of the violent market changes, has gotten beyond them, with most inequitable results."

"While your directors are satisfied that a major effort to

Newton 'Y' Camps To Open Seasons At End of June

New registrants are coming in daily for Camp Massasoit and Chickami, YMCA day camps, as well as for Camp Frank A. Day, the YMCA residence camp in Brookfield, scheduled to open their 1954 season in June. The day camp programs will begin Monday, June 28, the first Monday following closing of Newton public schools.

Activities for Camp Massasoit, founded in 1944, are held on the playfield and on the grounds of the YMCA at 276 Church street, Newton. Richard B. Simmons, YMCA physical director, will again direct the camp which will open for its eleventh season on June 28. Boys enrolled in the program are divided into "Indian Tribes" for group work. Leon A. Huston is chairman of the Camp Massasoit committee.

Also opening June 28, will be Camp Chickami, founded in 1946. Bruno J. Ottavi, associate youth work secretary of the YMCA, will direct the camp this year. A chief interest at Camp Chickami, newest of the three YMCA camping programs, is nature study.

Donald Robinson, member of the Watertown school system and specifically prepared by both training and experience, leads this interest group. All boys enrolled are exposed to the beauties and wonders of a study of the natural world around them on the wooded banks of the Charles at Riverside where the camp is located.

Chickami boys are also enrolled in groups, each with a leader-counselor for effective work. Members of the Camp Chickami committee are S. Page Cotton, Maurice A. Reidy, and George R. Ware.

Opening on Wednesday, June 30, will be Camp Frank A. Day, residence camp, located on the shores of Lake Quacumquasset at Brookfield. The camp's capacity enrollment for its two four week periods was reached early in April. Founded in 1916, through the efforts of the late C. D. Kempner and other Newton YMCA board members, the camp will this year be open for its 39th season.

Three unit divisions are used at Camp Day: Midget, Junior and Senior. Frank M. Simmons is camp director with John E. Danielson, YMCA youth work secretary, as associate director and director of the senior unit. Frederick A. Hawkins is chairman of the Camp Day Committee.

A new camping opportunity, Camp Vagabond, an "adventure" camp, will be offered for the first time this year under the sponsorship of the YMCA youth work committee. Philip D. Wilkinson is chairman. A camping trip of 800 to 1000 miles through Maine, New Hampshire and Massachusetts has been planned for July for boys of junior or senior high school age. David B. Potts, associate youth

Hold Biggest Scout Camporee Despite Deluge Over Weekend

More than 650 enthusiastic men and boys withstood a recent night's barrage of rain as they competed and judged in the largest Camporee ever held by Norumbega Council of Boy Scouts.

Some 496 Boy Scouts and Explorers vied for honors in the contest of camping skill held last weekend at the Nobscot Reservation in Sudbury Framingham. Over 150 adult Scouters were on hand to judge and supervise the activities.

Despite the rain, the traditional Order of the Arrow "tap-out" ceremony was held during the evening campfire in the new council ring. Nine adults were called forth by the service order along with 30 Scouts. It was the first time adults have been "tapped" in Norumbega Council.

Nearly all the boys proved themselves good wet-weather campers. The few who were not quite so well prepared were taken to cabin shelters by adults who toured the campsites throughout the damp night. Despite the difficulties besetting the boys, minor finger burns and miscellaneous scratches were the only accidents.

Competition in camping skill was held in two divisions, with the usual rigid judging applying for the Boy Scouts and a somewhat stricter set of requirements for the older and more experienced Explorer Scouts.

In neither division was any special scoring adjustment made because of the severe weather. High scorers well deserved their honors for proving themselves under the rugged conditions.

First-place winner in the EXplorer division was taken by Explorer Crew 11, with a near-perfect score. The crew was led by Eagle Scout Douglas Smith and included Wilbur Hayes, David Villegas, George Hellerman and John Scavia.

Second place was won by Explorer Post 21 led by Star Scout Peter Yesmentes, Brian O'Connor, Charles Arcand and John Ardeyno completed this team.

Third place went to Explorer Post 7 with Star Scout Michael Donovan as leader. James King, Guy Smith, Harold Johnson, William Rousseau and Peter Cobb comprised this crew.

In the Boy Scout division first place was won by the Tiger Patrol of Troop 27. Life Scout Samuel B. Senior, III, was leader of the winning boys: John Hegnauer, Roger S. Hamilton, Peter Hamilton, Robert Stuart, Paul Burns and Dana Hohanson.

Second-place winner was the Flying Eagle Patrol from Troop 51. Members were Star Scout Harry Crawford, leader, Dick Wiggin, Fred Crawford and John Speare.

Third place went to the Fox Patrol of Troop 51, whose members were: Star Scout Ned Field, leader, Vin Hoagland, John Wyman, Peter Lawson, Henry Field and Bruce Hamill.

Others among the first 10 were the Lion Patrol of Troop 19, Hawk Patrol of Troop 51, Panther Patrol of Troop 5, White Eagle Patrol of Troop 4B, Cobra Patrol of Troop 51, Stag Patrol of Troop 4B, and the Flying Eagle Patrol of Troop 100.

A total of 15 Boy Scout Patrols scored "A" ratings and 24 achieved a "B". The awards to winners will be made at the Council's formal Court of Honor, June 4.

The Camporee was supervised by Curtis B. Forbes, chairman of the Council's Camping Committee. Heading the 85-man judging staff were J. Clifford French and Assistant Chief Judge Robert L. Allison. Kilby Osborn, Jr. was the Chief Fire Warden. He was assisted by Explorer Scouts from Ship 13 and members of the Fire Patrol. Dr. Sylvester B. Kelley and Dr. John J. Byrne provided medical supervision throughout the weekend, and a Red Cross Emergency Service Wagon was attended by James D. Blackall and his son, David. Arthur Barnes was "cookie" for the adults.

With better spring weather the Day Junior High School baseball teams have been able to get in a number of games. The second contest of the season found the Varsity losing out in a close one against Bigelow, 3-2. On that same day the Junior Varsity won, 6-1.

Backstage workers were Lucille Russo, lights and sound; Ann Colcock, props; Lois Raverly, Cynthia Shriner, Glorie Mason, Elaine Moran, stage, and Loraine Holmes.

Tentative dates for rallies and elections have been set as follows:

Student Council — Nomination papers due May 25; rally and election, June 2.

Ninth Grade Officers (for next year) — Nomination papers due May 25; rally and election, June 2.

Ninth Grade Officers (for next year) — Nomination papers due June 4; rally and elections, June 9.

Results will be announced later.

"If I Loved You" was sung by Sue Stone and the ninth grade Glee Club. It was led by Donald March, director of the orchestra.

Mr. Gray surprised the Glee Clubs by presenting each of the girls with a lovely rose to wear for the performance.

A play called, "I'm a Fool" was presented by the Drama Club on May 19.

The plot was based on a boy working in the stables of a race-track. The boy was played by Cushman Anthony. One day he enters the grand-stands to play a race and then the fireworks start.

Miss Anna-Rae Tong Receives NCWC Annual Scholarship Award

Flowers that bloom in the spring had to bow before the exquisite flowering of spring hats at the annual luncheon and meeting of the Newton Centre Woman's Club, held in mid-April at the clubhouse. Ordinarily the club members are dedicated to good works and high thoughts, but on this annual occasion custom definitely does not frown on a little covert rivalry to attain supremacy in the frankly frivolous field of the spring bonnet.

Candlelight and spring and the presentation of the "scholarship girl" to the club members—this is what makes the annual luncheon one of the most colorful and spiritually rewarding occasions of the season. This year Miss Anna-Rae Tong, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Walter Tong of 14 Maple Park, Newton Centre, was selected by Mrs. Rodney Stratton and her Education Committee to receive the Jennie C. Harwood scholarship given by the N. C. W. C. Anna Rae is a recent graduate of the Newton High School and is planning to enter Skidmore College,

MISS ANNA-RAE TONG to major in art, possibly to teach eventually in that field.

Grateful acknowledgment is made to Miss South of the Newton High School faculty who has worked tirelessly to assemble and present the vital information on each candidate making application for scholarship aid.

Manuscript Club

Three Newton women will serve as officers of the Manuscript Club of Boston during the 1954-55 season. At the annual meeting on May 18, Mrs. Estelle Mason of 154 Beaumont avenue, Newtonville, was elected Recording Secretary. Guinan of 98 Manet road, Chestnut Hill, accepted appointments as Chairman of the Prose Group as well as Social Chairman, positions which she has so ably filled during the past year.

David A. Proctor, of 446 Lowell avenue, Newtonville, Mass., has been named advertising manager of the Daily Pennsylvanian, student newspaper at the University of Pennsylvania. A junior in the University's Wharton School of Finance and Commerce, and a member of Beta Sigma Phi Fraternity, Inc., he is a graduate of Newton High School, where he was manager of the track team and a member of the National Honor Society, Debating Club, Latin Club and yearbook staff.

Miss Woods and Mr. Claffey Marry At Double Ring Ceremony

A double ring ceremony on May 8 at St. Charles Church, Waltham, united in marriage Miss Jeannette Marie Woods, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Woods of Waltham, to Mr. John Joseph Claffey, son of Mrs. John J. Claffey of Auburndale and the late Mr. Claffey. Rev. ## Greater Boston Championship Won by Newton High Trackmen

Winning the senior and junior divisions and placing third in the sophomore-freshman events, Newton High's trackmen romped to the Greater Boston championship Saturday at Boston's White Stadium. Lou Kahlenbeck paced the senior division victory by tossing the shot 46 feet, 6½ inches for first place, winning the low hurdles in 21 seconds, and taking the third leg of the 880-yard relay team which placed second.

The third place winner for the Orange and Black was Capt. Ken McAdams, who raced to a record-equalling 22.8 seconds in the 220-yard dash.

The Tigers racked up three firsts, two seconds and one third to wind up with 23 senior division points, nosing out Rindge Tech by a pair of digits and Belmont by three.

In the junior division, Newton unveiled its most strength. This performance must have been especially encouraging to Coach Lem Boyle, as these boys will be around next year to form the backbone of another outstanding track squad. The juniors netted three firsts, four seconds, a pair of thirds and a single fourth for 32 points. Rindge again was second with 23½.

Carl Shine, although not setting a new mark for the juniors, out-hurled the upperclassmen with his 49 feet, 5¾

SPORTS

OOPS! TRY AGAIN—Fleet-footed Bob Davis, Newton's left fielder, tries to bunt as leadoff man in the Orange and Black 7-0 conquest of Waltham. The bunt rolled foul, but Davis smashed a single to center and then, with some fancy baserunning, scored all the way from first on a sacrifice. (Photo by Gordon R. Wilk)

Despite a somewhat shabby performance in the field, Newton High School trampled crosstown rival Waltham 7-0 Monday afternoon as Art DeStefano tossed a nifty one-hitter. The long single off Art's strong hurling was a sinking drive to center that barely dropped in front of the on-charging John Simcock . . . DeStefano completely stifled the Waltham attack, fanning 11 batters and walking only three. Although errors made Artie work overtime, he always had it in the clutch . . . The win dropped Waltham into a third-place tie with the Tigers, both teams showing 6-4 Suburban League marks. Watertown is in second place with an 8-3 record and only a game with Waltham remaining . . . Surprising Cambridge Latin picked up its eighth and ninth victories this week, salting away the Suburban League pennant as far as Newton is concerned. The only way the Contabs can miss the championship is to lose its last game while Watertown wins over Waltham . . . The Orange and Black can still tie Watertown provided the Arsenal Towners drop that final game and Newton wins twice over Brookline. The Tigers play at Brookline today (Thursday) and at home next Tuesday.

Newton played up to its potential in beating Waltham, demonstrating a clear superiority over the team which nosed out the Tigers 7-6 earlier in the year. Billy Hamill and Bob Davis shared starring roles with DeStefano . . . Hamill collected three hits, stole four bases, and had a string of seven straight hits against the visitors before grounding out in the last frame. Davis collected two screaming hits, scored three runs and gave Waltham fits with his speedy base running.

Davis got the twi-light game off to a merry start by leading off with smash to center. It was the third game that Davis opened with a single. When shortstop Chuck Fogarty sacrificed, Davis came all the way around . . . Although the bunt was handled by the pitcher, the Waltham third sacker wandered in toward the mound and watched the play, leaving third unguarded. Davis never hesitated rounding second and headed for third . . . Waltham's second baseman, who made the putout at first, had to wait until third was covered, and then he made a hurried throw. The ball rolled behind third, and Davis raced home before it was picked up . . . Bob pulled another nifty bid of running faster when he scored from third despite a drawn-in infield. Taking a long lead, he dared the shortstop to make a play on him. When the shortstop threw to first instead, Davis dashed in while the ball was in the air . . . Hamill's three hits boosted his batting average to a hot .456. Two of his hits went for singles, while the other was a terrific belt between center and right that went for three bases. On a dry day, he would have had an easy homer.

The game was iced in the third inning when Newton scored four times. Hamill started the fireworks with his triple, scoring on a wild pitch . . . With two away, Jimmy Wiper and DeStefano walked, and catcher Tucker McLellan singled to right. Wiper scored, McLellan took second on the throw, and two more runs came in when Bill Reilly singled to left. McLellan would have been out by at least 10 feet at the plate, but he kicked the ball free on his slide.

DeStefano, an all-scholastic in football and a member of the G.B.I. League All-Star hockey team, has been named the outstanding Italian-American athlete in Greater Boston, and will receive a trophy from the Italian-American Charitable Society June 8 at ceremonies in the Charter Room at New England Mutual Hall . . . Artie was picked for his "outstanding athletic ability and sportsman-like qualities." The Society couldn't have made a better choice, in this reporter's estimation . . . The three sport athlete passed Newton to its first football championship in 32 years in the fall. His sensational performance along with Lou Kahlenbeck in the 32-31 win over Waltham was one of the greatest pages in Newton sports history . . . Making a difficult transition to skates, Artie came along quickly to spark an under-rated Newton sextet to the semi-finals of the state hockey tournament . . . He is now the mainstay of the baseball squad, and Newton would probably be a lot closer to the top of the Suburban League now if the steady, reliable DeStefano hadn't come down with pneumonia at the start of the season.

COMMUNITY MERCHANTS YOU SHOULD KNOW

FOR SERVICES YOU MAY NEED!

Agency, established by Frank A. Mesmer of 18 Gould road, Waban, formerly of Evelyn road, testifies to the company's ability to fill a longfelt need for fast and simple duplicating equipment in New England's business and industry.

Mr. Mesmer, a methods engineer, first became interested in the fluid duplicating process in 1935. In April of that year, he established the Boston Sales Office of the parent company in Boston, with desk space in an office building and only 27 customers.

In less than a year, business had increased to such an extent that more room was needed, and the Agency made its first move. In November, 1945, the expanding company again changed to more spacious quarters, but still in Boston.

As the use of its popular duplicating machines continued to grow, the Agency found itself cramped by 1950. Last November, ground was broken for its Newton Highlands building, and the company moved in during March.

From a 27-customer firm in 1935, the company now has grown to 1400 customers using nearly 2700 Standard Fluid Duplicators. The company it represents is the pioneer developer of fluid duplicating machines in the United States, introducing the first successful direct process duplicator in the country in 1931.

The Agency features a complete service for its duplicating machine customers, including a methods division which aids in the creation and production of time and money-saving methods designed to simplify order and invoice procedure, production control and control of other essential management detail.

NEW WANT ADS APPEAR --- OLD ADS DISAPPEAR --- REASON QUICK RESULTS

He Didn't Have to Learn

By ESTELLE MASON

"Mummy, Mummy, we got out of doing any work in school today! We didn't have to learn anything, not even arithmetic!" "You didn't, dear? How come?"

"Oh, Mummy, I told you we were going on a trip around Newton. I told you, Well, the bus was waiting for us. The whole third grade and our teacher went with Mrs. Arnold. Mrs. Arnold is the lady who knows all about Newton."

"First we fed the ducks at Norumbega. I should have taken more bread with me."

"Mummy, did you know that Indians used to live here? Real Indians? They were not bad bad men like we see in Cowboy pictures. John Elliot made friends with our Indians. He preached to them and he helped the Indians. The Indians taught their children to be brave and how to hunt and fish. They were good Indians. We saw the John Elliot Memorial. We went into the church that the first settlers built."

"Then we saw the Peabody Home for Crippled Children. We are lucky that we are not crippled. Do you know why Cheesecake Brook is called Cheesecake Brook? I know. It's 'cause the settlers only had cheese and cake to eat when they stopped by the brook to have a picnic while they were on their journey."

"Mummy, did I tell you about Echo Bridge? The kids yelled 'HELLOOOOOO' and our own voices (that's what the teacher said) our own voices said 'hellooooooo' right back to us. So then we stamped our feet and the sound of horses came back to us."

"Mummy, how does Mrs. Arnold know so much. She told us stories about Newton all morning. Where we live used to be farms. Newton was first a part of Cambridge and used to be called New Town. Then it was time to go home, but we were having such a good time that the kids didn't want to go home. I'm glad we live in Newton."

"Mummy, do you suppose Mrs. Arnold will take us on another trip?"

"I think so, dear. Perhaps some afternoon daddy will take us for a ride and you can tell us all about the places we see."

"Mummy, weren't we lucky to get out of doing any work this morning? We didn't have to learn anything."

Mrs. Mary Titcomb Honored At Tea

The table was decorated with blue and white, with streamers of forget-me-not, nosegays and a doll cake was made and presented to Mrs. Titcomb by Mr. Robishaw, a state committee man of the Watertown Chapter 14. Mrs. Ora McArdle, a state committee woman and a past commander was in charge of the decorations.

Among the guests were: Marie Jenkins, Adele Tallen, Natalie Nichols, Dorethea Moore, Leon Preston, Blanche Pride, Helen Flynn, Edward Flynn, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Edmunds, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Thereault, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Morgan, Greta Hard, Lita Lindsey, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Stonus, Marion Chamberlain, Albert Robishaw and Dorothy McCarty.

N. H. Woman's Club New Officers

Zimmerman; second vice-president, Mrs. Edward L. Hamilton; recording secretary, Mrs. Ralph W. Stoher; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Wallace C. Anderson, treasurer, Mrs. Francis L. Searway; auditor, Mrs. Kenneth S. May.

The Club awarded its annual scholarship to Henrietta McKee, 1640 Centre street, Newton Highlands. She will graduate in June from Newton High School and plans to enter Northeastern University in the fall.
